Area A-Plant Considered

Although it is "not really imminent," officials of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation said today that a possible plan to build a nuclear power plant in the Red Hook area within the next several years is still very much alive.

Speculation about the nuclear plant project gained impetus again recently when Central Hudson President Lelan F. Sillin Jr. included statements about the project in his annual message released recently to stockholders in the utility firm.

Assure Better Inspection Of UR Demolition Sectors

By CHARLES R. DOUGLAS

Kingston urban renewal saw action on two fronts today after a Tuesday night meeting which drew a promise of better demolition site inspection, and with rebuttal by Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan of claims made this week by former Sixth Ward Alderman Leonard VanDyke.

City renewal, especially that taking place Downtown, which recently drew criticism from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, was aired last night by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, members of the Common Council, Eric Hemphill, KURA executive director, members of his staff, and the mayor.

The meeting went very well, the mayor said today. "We discussed things in general, and it was agreed that Hemphill's office is to assign men to check on foundations left after demolition, and on-site inspections are to be made during future demolitions." The meeting at City Hall was a closed session.

Some aldermen, including Emilio A. Primo Jr., (D) Fourth Ward and Clifford Sinsbaugh (D) Fifth Ward, complained of sidewalk conditions, and held that the demolition contractor was not fulfilling his contract in some instances including the leaving of foundations, some of which filled with water.

Points made in the DHUD letter were discussed as they had been Monday when Stanley Freeman, DHUD field representative and Albert E. Bibby, of the State Division of Housing were here to confer with Mayor Garraghan, Hemphill and members of the KURA.

Other meetings are to be held with Freeman, who indicated it could take a month to iron out details.

It has been decided, to date, he noted, however, that some houses in the Downtown project area should be repaired for relocation, and that some demolition is to continue, but the contractor will be stopped, if rubble is not removed on schedule.

Aldermen at last night's meeting noted that the Common Council has cooperated with the KURA in the past and will continue to do so, if procedure is satisfactory.

In rebutting claims made by former Sixth Ward Alderman Leonard VanDyke, Mayor Garraghan today recalled several statements by the former alderman in 1966, which cited opinion opposite to that in VanDyke's statements published Monday.

VanDyke noted that the mayor had said after publication of the DHUD letter: "I don't feel it's my responsibility and I am not going to take the blame."

VanDyke held that the mayor or had promised to investigate relocation problems, but that his (VanDyke's) efforts to meet with urban renewal officials and the mayor have been fruitless.

Mayor Garraghan checking his files, noted that on Feb. 23, 1966, a statement supported by VanDyke and the Congress of Racial Equality said:

"Mayor Garraghan showed a great deal of interest and knowledge about the problems of urban renewal. His concern is to be highly applauded."

The statement noted that the mayor "has been just about the only official we have met with, either in Kingston, or with the federal government, who has had the courage and initiative to take responsibility."

It added: "Unfortunately the major responsibility for the Broadway East project does not lie with Mayor Garraghan. While differences between CORE and the mayor may arise in the future, his honesty, integrity and courage cannot be questioned. He agreed that no one should move from present homes in the Sixth Ward until decent apartments are made available to them. Moreover, he offered the services of his office to aid people in finding decent apartments."

Meetings involving CORE and local officials were cited, and comment on them ended with, "While they (members of CORE) were pleased with the reaction and suggestions of Mayor Garraghan, they still find problems to be solved."

Elsewhere in his files, the mayor noted, that a re-evaluation of Uptown urban renewal was proposed and on July 22, 1966 Alderman James F. Howard (D) 10th Ward, said he would offer a resolution in the Common Council calling for re-evaluation, and this was done.

The mayor noted Tuesday that the state has not yet approved the Uptown project and has proposed changes in it.

In speaking again last year on re-evaluation, the mayor on July 27, 1966, said he was "the only mayor in the state, and perhaps in the nation," who was not a member of an urban renewal agency.

U. S. Planes Hit Haiphong Again

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON (AP) — A powerful strike force from three U.S. aircraft carriers bombed a MIG airfield just outside the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong today and two of the city's thermal power plants, including one inside the city limits.

The raid just after noon cost one Skyhawk jet shot down by Red gunners — the 536th U.S. combat plane reported lost over North Vietnam. The pilot was missing.

The two power plants had been hit before on April 29, but the raid on the Kien An airfield 5 1/2 miles southwest of Haiphong was the first against that MIG base. It was the third MIG base bombed by American warplanes.

In the ground war the northwest corner of South Vietnam continued to be the hottest front as U.S. Marines fought another battle with North Vietnamese troops and Air Force B52s made two attacks in support of the Leathernecks. The Marines dead in a five-hour fight Tuesday but reported 24 Marines killed and 19 wounded.

Carrier Based

The fets that raided the Haiphong area streaked off the flight decks of the carriers Enterprise, Hancock and Kitty Hawk.

A U.S. spokesman said the nighttime raids had good weather and the pilots reported they bombed on target. However, there was no immediate assessment of bomb damage.

Following the previous raids on the power stations, pilots reported the lights of North Vietnam's major port went out for one night.

The power plant inside Haiphong, in a northwest sector of the city, is part of an industrial complex which includes a cement plant that also has been bombed. The other power plant

LBJ's Hope Rests on Great Society

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conceding the going is tough, President Johnson has laid his 1968 re-election chances on the line of "Great Society" accomplishments and the fight against "naked aggression" in Vietnam.

The President left little doubt he expects to be the party's nominee next year when he told a glittering Democratic dinner at which about 3,000 persons paid $250 a plate Tuesday night: "If the Democratic party continues to serve by giving the greatest good to the greatest number, in the year 1968, as we come around the turn, we'll come home for the victory the people deserve."

Johnson told the cheering Democrats he believes the party's success depends on how voters react to efforts to shore up economic security of the elderly, curb crime, counter air pollution and secure rights for all citizens.

"That will demand of us at home and abroad the will, the character, to persevere when the going gets tough," he said.

"It will take character to stand for freedom against naked aggression, and when some say it is none of our business to resist it."

This challenge found two of the President's chief war policy critics—Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark.—busy elsewhere.

Kennedy was on his way to California, Fulbright, an object of caustic presidential remarks at a similar dinner last year, did not appear. His wife said he was unreachable.

Tongue in cheek, Johnson greeted members of "our quiet" by completely unified party. He said if this was incredible—a word Fulbright has used in describing some of the President's Asian policies—it also was traditional that Democrats like to fight.

few days but he did not know if there were any on the field when it was hit.

He also had no word on whether MIG opposition was encountered in the air.

American warplanes have previously blasted the MIG bases at Kep, 7 miles northeast of Hanoi, and Hoa Lac 20 miles west of the capital.

A spokesman said Tuesday that Hoa Lac field, hit five times, could no longer be used.

Although three MIG bases have now been hit, the North Vietnamese air force has at least three other jet fields which have not been bombed. These are at Phuc Yen, Gia Lam and Cat Be, all in the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

The ground battle in the northwest corner of South Vietnam Tuesday developed when a Communist force of unknown strength opened up with sniper and automatic weapons fire on part of the 3rd Marine Regiment nine miles northwest of Khe Sanh.

Broke Contact

Fighting continued for five hours. The North Vietnamese broke contact early Tuesday night after the Marines called in reinforcements and air support.

The B52s flew in high above the mountain terrain Tuesday night to hit Red positions 14 miles northwest of Khe Sanh. The big bombers returned early today, hammering fortified bunkers, trenches, automatic weapons positions and supply points in the same area.

A Marine patrol reported locating 203 North Vietnamese bodies in fresh graves near Tuesday's battle site. They had been killed in 12 days of mountain fighting — the battle of Khe Sanh — which ended last week when the Marines drove the North Vietnamese from the last of three strategic hills in the area close to the Laotian border and just below the demilitarized zone.

U.S. headquarters said the known North Vietnamese toll in the area since April 24 now is 764.

The Marines also reported that two troop-carrying helicopters collided over the northern sector Monday, killing four Marines and injuring two more.

Ships Duel

The Navy reported that the destroyers Hubbard and Joseph Strauss duelled Tuesday with North Vietnamese shore batteries near the mouth of the Song Ma River. The Strauss was covering the Hubbard, shelling barge traffic, when the heavy Red guns opened up.

The two ships reported destroying two of the Communists' big guns and damaging a third without taking any damage themselves.

Local Chamber Picks Matthews President

Kingston Attorney and delegate to the State Constitutional Convention, S. James Matthews, has been elected the 21st president of Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

At a meeting Tuesday afternoon in the office of the Chamber, Matthews was elected to the presidency. Three vice presidents elected include: Edwin B. Bolz, co-administrator of the Benedictine Hospital; Dean M. Kintner, personnel manager of IBM, Kingston; and Jeremiah Sachs, a local dentist.

Elected to the position of treasurer was William E. Belser of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co.

In his remarks to the Chamber's Board of Directors, Matthews called for a positive attitude on the part of all Kingston area residents. He stated that it had become far too easy for Kingstonians to criticize and do nothing when a positive approach and action were needed.

The newly-elected officers, together with seven directors, will be installed at the Chamber's annual banquet 7 o'clock tonight in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

City Planning Consultant John Calbreath Burdis will be the featured speaker. Music will be provided by Johnny Knapp and his orchestra. Outgoing President George Svirsky noted that a limited number of reservations are still available by calling the Chamber office.

Prominent in the field of conservation, Matthews was a member of the Advisory Board of the Joint Legislative Committee on Natural Resources, and the Advisory Board of the committee on revision of the Conservation Law.

He is a former vice chairman of the State Fish and Wildlife Management Board and formerly represented Ulster County on District 8 of the board.

In addition he has served as a member of the Conservation Commissioner's Advisory Board and also held executive positions in the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County and the State Conservation Council. At one time he served several years as editor of the council's bi-monthly publication he founded.

For many years he was identified with Empire Girls State sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of New York and served as lecturer and political instructor.

Highway Workers Dig for Future; Unearth Relics of Ancient Past

WASHINGTON (AP) — Among highway workers, if they can't pronounce paleontology they just say "fossils and bones."

They've turned up items like dinosaur tracks discovered in Pecos County, Texas, while building U.S. Route 57. They've salvaged Indian mounds in Iowa and excavated prehistoric ruins in Arizona.

10,000 Specimens

When bulldozer operators started digging for a section of Interstate 71 near Cleveland, Ohio, they set off one of the biggest fossil hunts ever undertaken in the United States. Scientists collected 10,000 specimens.

"Scientists evidently figure this is a big deal as far as they are concerned," James E. Kirk, a highways engineer of the Bureau of Public Roads, said in an interview.

Congress has said that federal aid highway funds may be used in archeological and paleontological salvage in highway construction. It follows a national policy of preserving for public use sites such as Indian ruins, historic buildings, fossils or other objects of antiquity that have national significance.

Since 1956, under the Highway Transportation Act, 118 federal aid archeological and paleontological projects have been undertaken in 21 states. Their cost totals some $1.4 million, of which $1.2 million was in federal-aid funds.

States Start Projects

The initiative for such projects must come from the states. Agreements for the work are made with museums, universities and state archeologists.

In the Right of Way and Location Office of the Bureau of Public Roads, Kirk and James A. Carnev, a highways engineer, make sure that archeological and paleontological salvage get attention.

There are problems. Everybody has certain ideas about what is significant historically. Often even the experts can't agree.

Kirk said they leave it up to the professionals in the field.

For 17 months, from April 1965 to September 1966, workers under the direction of the Cleveland Natural Science Museum dug, chipped, dried and hammered to collect specimens of fossils from the Devonian Age of more than 350 million years ago when northern Ohio was covered by the sea.

The museum arranged the project after it was learned that a section of Interstate Highway 71 would cut through what was believed to be an important but heretofore inaccessible fossil formation.

Important scientists visited the site. Some schools sent bus loads of classes there.

William E. Scheele, museum director, said the road workers "Generally seemed to have more pride in knowing that something of value was coming from their excavating efforts aside from the creation of a new superhighway."

Scheele reported that "it appears that we have collected at least 10,000 major specimens of tremendous scientific value."

It may take 10 to 15 years to complete scientific analysis and description, he said, but there may be as many as 75 animals in all classes which are totally new to the world of science.

The Cleveland project cost some $119,000, of which 90 per cent is from federal funds and the rest from the museum.

Other highways-archeology projects, by states, last year included:

Arizona — Exploration and excavation of prehistoric ruins in Mohave County.

Arkansas — Excavation and study by the University of Arkansas of an Indian village near Fishline Lake.

Gold Rush Salvage

California — In Sacramento, excavation and salvage of historic building foundations associated with the gold rush days.

Idaho — Excavation of an early Indian community area in Idaho County.

Illinois — Salvage of Indian artifacts in St. Clair County.

Iowa — Salvage of five Indian mounds in Lee County.

Nebraska — Archeological salvage of the historic Creighton House in Omaha.

New Mexico — Salvaging of several Indian sites in Grant County.

Tennessee — Investigations by the University of Tennessee in the vicinity of the Tennessee River crossing.

Utah — Salvage operations in the Silver Creek Junction interchange area.

In the first weeks of his naval service he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station.

Use Computer To Count Viet Deaths by State

By BOB HORTON
AP MILITARY WRITER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Under a newly computerized operation the Pentagon provided for the first time today a numerical breakdown of Vietnam combat deaths by states. California has lost the most men.

New York, Pennsylvania, Texas and Ohio follow in that order. All of the other 45 states, plus the District of Columbia, have given up sons. Men also are listed from Guam, West Germany, Mexico, the Philippines, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, Canada and Peru.

Fed Data

A computer was fed key information on 7,823 servicemen who died by enemy hands between Jan. 1, 1961 and last March 1.

Of these, 683 listed their home of record as California. New York had 529, Pennsylvania 483, Texas 442 and Ohio 388.

Nine other states suffered 200 or more Vietnam combat fatalities: Illinois 378; Michigan, 311; Florida, 287; New Jersey and North Carolina, 228 each; Indiana, 217; Tennessee 211; Massachusetts, 204, and Georgia, 200.

Thirteen other states had 100 or more combat dead.

Pentagon spokesmen explained that the vast majority of — but not all — servicemen give their birthplace as home of record, while others may list what they consider to be home, or the current address of the primary next of kin.

The computer poured out a broad statistical picture of the men dying in Vietnam.

More men have perished on the battlefield, in sea operations or in air missions at the age of 20 than at any other age — a total of 1,331.

One 17-year-old was killed. A Pentagon directive issued in 1965 now prohibits assignment of 17-year-olds in the war zone.

New Detergent, TEEM on Market

Thrifty area shoppers are advised to consult Thursday's Freeman for an ad on a new laundry product called TEEM. The ad will include a coupon worth 10 cents toward the purchase of the new detergent.

The new product, made by the U.S. Borax Company, manufacturers of Borax and other time tested household products, promises to turn the dream of one-step washing into reality.

TEEM is a dual purpose washing compound. On the outside of the round tablet are various heavy duty cleaners and detergents. The outside dissolves within five minutes releasing an inner blue core of bleach, borax and ultramarine bluing.

The product is now being featured in area stores in a special promotional sale. TEEM comes in a white box with blue, black and red markings. The word TEEM is in bright red letters.

2 Upstate Men Die in Vietnam

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Two soldiers from Upstate New York, one a member of the famed 101st Airborne Division, have been killed in South Vietnam.

Army Pfc. Charles L. Seefeldt Jr., of Knowlesville, east of Niagara Falls, was killed Sunday by a land mine. Seefeldt and his unit of the 101st were engaged in a battle with the Viet Cong near the demilitarized zone when he was killed.

The 19-year-old paratrooper enlisted in the Army last summer and had served in the war for four months.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Seefeldt Sr., said Tuesday they recently had received a letter from their son in which he said of the fighting: "It will be bad, but we'll make it."

NATIONAL HOSPITAL WEEK

Ulster County residents have particular reason to observe National Hospital Week, which currently is being observed, for it provides an opportunity for all of us to assess the importance of our hospitals to our community.

The three general hospitals in the county—Kingston, Benedictine and Ellenville Hospitals—are continuing to expand to meet increased demands for services and in each instance the residents have contributed generously to make such needed expansion possible.

In addition to the three hospital facilities, the community is served by the Kingston City Laboratory, which ministers to public needs. The laboratory is rated by health authorities as one of the best equipped and administered in the state.

National recognition has been awarded the Kingston City Laboratory Blood Bank for its high standard of performance. Dr. K. D. McMillan, president of the American Association of Blood Banks, commended the board of managers and the laboratory staff for their participation in a voluntary program which assures highest quality medical care to patients.

While we recognize how essential hospitals are to a community and the necessity of supporting them, we sometimes forget that the hospitals need our services. Emphasizing the importance of hospital careers, the local institutions hold Recognition Day to honor physicians, nurses, pharmacists, therapists, technicians, clerical help, maintenance personnel and volunteers.

A career in hospital service is one of the finest, the most rewarding and the most satisfying open to young men and women.

George J. Habernig, social security district manager, cites National Hospital Week as an opportunity to recognize the significant efforts and cooperation which hospitals have contributed to the success of medicare in its first year.

Nationally, about three million beneficiaries have received inpatient hospital services under medicare since the program of hospital insurance for the aged began. Local area hospitals participate in medicare.

This year's National Hospital Week theme is, "City of Care." Our hospitals are becoming cities of care in a true sense as they expand the types of medical care offered the community.

NATIONAL ECONOMIC COUNCIL

It will be recalled that John T. Connor retired as Secretary of Commerce three months ago when President Johnson urged Congress to combine that department with the Department of Labor into a strong agency serving the whole national economy. Opposition from organized labor and some business men pigeonholed that proposal in congressional committees.

New president of the Allied Chemical Corporation, Connor unburdened himself before the American Society of Business Writers about the role of the business representative in the Cabinet. Stating that the present system of government economic management is somewhat of a mishmash, Connor declared, "The secretaries of Commerce and Labor participate in policy discussions strictly on a catch-as-catch-can basis. And, as one who has been involved, I can assure you that having half the management team excluded from policy discussions is no way to run a railroad."

Connor called for creation of a new super federal agency to keep its hand constantly on the throttle. Such a body might be called the National Economic Council, patterned on the National Security Council, and performing a similar function for the economy. Its particular objective would be to deal with significant policy matters affecting the stability and growth of the national economy.

The members of the National Economic Council could include the chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers and the secretaries of Treasury, Commerce, Labor and Interior. Thus every executive department concerned with the economy of the nation would be represented in reaching decisions affecting the growth and stability of the economy. It is such an obvious and sensible suggestion, it seems strange that it had not been used long ago.

American men who smoke cigarettes lose 27 per cent more time from jobs and recreation than non-smokers, due to chronic health problems, a Government report declares. The survey covered 42,000 American households. Not only does smoking cause various illnesses, it restricts activities both at work and play.

There is no precedent for the suggestion that the United States let such countries as India and Japan negotiate peace in Vietnam. The Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, general secretary of the World Council of Churches, made it without realizing that these nations and others have tried to intercede for peace negotiations, but failed to interest North Vietnam.

Well-Wishers Are Kennedy's Biggest Problem

WASHINGTON—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who for weeks has been trying to walk softly and so abate the overexposure which has already caused declines in his poll rating, is finding it far easier to come with adversaries than with well-wishers.

Repeatedly, he has disclaimed any Presidential ambition for next year for two sound reasons: It would be just short of a total impossibility to take the nomination away from President Johnson, assuming he chooses to stand for re-election. And even could Kennedy overturn the convention by some miracle, the sure consequence would be so savage a division within the Democratic Party as to make any resultant nomination the kiss of death.

All this is as appreciated by the Senator's mature associates as it is by the Senator himself. But Kennedy's troubles lie not with his responsible backers but rather with zealots whose understanding of political reality is nil.

Undeterred by his own stated wishes, hot-headed extremists, notably within anti-Vietnam war fringe groups, are persistently agitating for Kennedy to get in there in 1968. Embarrassment, moreover, is being piled upon embarrassment. For they do not stop at "demanding" a Presidential ticket headed by Kennedy. They also "demand" that his running mate for Vice President be Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas.

The most severe critic of Fulbright's tireless attacks upon the bipartisan policy of resistance to the Communist invaders of South Vietnam need recant nothing to absolve him of any dreams in this direction. For however demagogic his errors on Vietnam may be, he is far too sensible, as is Kennedy himself, to encourage this absurd notion of king-making. For on nearly every one of the major domestic issues, Fulbright stands poles apart from Kennedy.

This is poignantly true on civil rights. Here Kennedy is an advanced advocate; and here Fulbright has a record of total opposition to every real reform that has been enacted. Indeed, the fix in which Kennedy finds himself is without example. The very sense of understandable grief at the assassination of his late brother, President John F. Kennedy, is both the factor that has made him a Presidential possibility in the first place and the factor that is at the seat of his present difficulties. Had his brother not been martyred he would himself be in consideration for that office.

But the same people who seek to promote him are associating him in the public mind with an irresponsible extremism on Vietnam which he does not share and which in fact is unfair to him.

True enough, he has frequently been a critic of Vietnam, and sometimes he has approached the outright dove position of such Senators as Fulbright. Yet, he is no mere peacenik—though this is precisely what the zealots are presenting him to be.

They plump for Fulbright, for illustration, despite the towering fact that no Democratic convention could possibly put him on a national ticket without repudiating the party's entire record on civil rights and a good part of that record even on the welfare programs of recent years. They are for Fulbright, in short, solely because he is "against the war in Vietnam."

Though Kennedy himself has said he is even willing to take an oath that he does not wish to be entered in the Presidential primaries, one emotionalist group after another still seeks to put him in willy-nilly.

The latest is the "St. Louis Citizens for Kennedy-Fulbright," which demands the repudiation of President Johnson's Vietnam war policy let the Republicans "sweep the 1968 elections" as a peace party. This overlooks the demonstrable truth that the G.O.P. generally is more hawkish on Vietnam than are the Democrats. It also seeks to make the war an unabashed partisan issue and the office of the Presidency a prize for irresponsible retreat in Vietnam.

To suggest that Kennedy could possibly accept so crude a formula for success is not only to degrade him but unjustly to indict him as a wholly self-seeking politician. And yet, this is the measure of his present problem.

Mao's Power Disturbs the Soviet

The Soviet split with Mao Tse-tung (not with Red China) needs all the looking behind the scenes that we can give it. There can be a time bomb lurking there for us.

The Chinese Communist party was founded in 1921. Mao was one of the 12 members present at the First Party Congress, but he was for some years excluded from the party hierarchy and not elected to its higher echelons.

Mao and the hierarchy understood each other in an odd sort of way; which is, of course, the sort of thing such rivals say just before the murder takes place. And, eventually, Mao arrived as the leader, as did his friend Stalin in Russia, by the deadly process of eliminating his rivals and superiors, one by one.

The Chinese Communists have never laid down their arms since the 1930s and the fights from Java to Saigon are all part of the same sweeping aggression.

Within a single year the hitherto sleeping giant, China, fought the great United States to a stalemate in Korea and won a second war in Indochina against the French. Thus two of the world's three great western powers were handled successfully on the battlefield by a Mao Tse-tung regime that had been in power only four years.

Then Mao overran Tibet. Next, the Indian nonsense about coexistence with Red China was shattered in the Himalayan snows. Meanwhile, Mao split Vietnam, despoiled Laos and was rebuffed in Indonesia only as a result of our Vietnam stand.

China is a war-lord country. Mao is essentially a war lord who has been able to keep other Chinese war lords under control. In achieving this he owes much to the Soviet Union, but not everything, and from the Kremlin viewpoint he has long since grown too big for his britches.

Mao's primary concern, of course, is with power—and certainly not with philosophy, ideology or whatever Moscow and Peking choose to call it in the main.

Soviet media monitors at the highly respected Institute for the Study of the USSR, based in Munich, West Germany, endlessly encounter the main line of Soviet policy.

The monitors find, as I have attempted to emphasize in previous articles, that all Kremlin media use every possible device to isolate China from the Soviet attacks against Mao. The Kremlin constantly insists that all of China is not "infected by the cancer of Maoism."

The recent provocations against the Soviet's Peking Embassy diplomats are invariably blamed on the "Mao Tse-tung group," "Maniacal Mao," etc. The warnings of reprisals are solely against Mao.

Pravda is now running a series entitled "On the Anti-Soviet Policy of Mao Tse-tung and His Group." Nearly every word of it is Mao, Mao, Mao. You'd hardly think the man lived in China.

Izvestia constantly claims that Mao is making extensive territorial demands against the Soviet. It hammers on the single point: Get rid of Mao. Nothing else is wrong with Red China.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

May 10, 1947—May Day was observed at Kingston High School with Gloria Tabacchi as queen.

Passengers of a Greyhound bus escaped injury when it caught fire at West Park. The Kingston High School A Capella Choir had concerts scheduled for May 16 and 17 at the school.

A branch office of the Miron Building Products Co., of Brooklyn, was operating on East Street.

Molodot Kommunist, a required bible within the party, is warning of "the tense situation made by Mao" along the common 5,000-mile Sino-Soviet frontier, and the entire Soviet press and radio is charging Mao with border violations.

Beamed throughout the Red world the Kremlin equivalent of our voice of America is accusing Mao of issuing to his frontier forces orders that read: "To arms!" or "Outpost into battle!"

Then the bulletins invariably express sympathy to the Chinese and their country for what's all Mao's fault.

When this column has called unsound the premise-foundation on which our policy chiefly rests, namely that the Soviet split with Red China is irredeemable and that Moscow will side with us one day for world stabilization against Peking, the Institute findings add their own confirmation to this.

The split is irredeemable, all right, but this premise builds our policy's foundation on quicksand, not rock. The split is with Mao, not Red China. Thus the split can disappear, and the absolute cornerstone of our foreign policy disappear with it, if Mao disappears. The way is wide open for the U.S.R.R. and Red China to again come together.

May 10, 1957—This date's issue of The Freeman emphasized dedication of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge.

The water department ruled against further lawn sprinkling because of a growing use of reservoir reserve.

Social security provisions were discussed by city employees.

S. Maxwell Taylor, of Fairmont Avenue, was named city assessor to succeed George W. Moore, of Central Broadway, who resigned.

U.S. Vietnam Peace Feelers Being Aimed at Soviet Union

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The dialogue in the diplomatic world on the question of how to end the war in Vietnam has taken a significant turn. America's ambassador to the United Nations, Arthur J. Goldberg, has twice in the last few days made it clear that peace in Vietnam today rests with the Soviet Union.

Mr. Goldberg has reiterated what he said previously at the General Assembly—namely, that the Soviet Union could, if it chose, end the Vietnam war right away. He declared: "Just the other day, I said at the General Assembly that if the Soviet Union would withdraw its objection, we could go to the Security Council tomorrow and take up what the U.N. might do to bring about peace."

Asked what the Soviet representative had said in reply, Ambassador Goldberg continued: "Well, he said the U.N. hasn't got competence to deal with this subject. I don't agree with him."

The Soviet attitude—as outlined by Ambassador Goldberg in an interview Sunday on the "Face the Nation" program of CBS—has caused frustration here. The Soviets not only are blocking any action at the U.N., but they are checkmating any possible moves by the Geneva Conference machinery set up in 1954. Mr. Goldberg makes a concrete suggestion as follows:

"I wish the Soviet Union would join the United States in putting its full force behind working out an honorable solution to Vietnam. I think it is in their interest. I think it is in our interest. We are the two largest world powers. The greater the power, the greater the responsibility to try to work out world peace and world security."

"Now, how do you explain their (the Soviet) attitude? They say they want a peace, we say we want peace. They say they want the Geneva Accords implemented, we say we want the Geneva Accords implemented. Then we fall apart. We fall apart because we say anybody—you—should do something about it. You are a co-chairman of the Geneva Conference. If you don't agree that the U.N. is the place to join Prime Minister Wilson (co-chairman from Great Britain), and reconvene the Conference—we will be there. We are ready to do it. We are ready to say that we ought to reaffirm the Geneva Accords."

The fact that the entire peace of the word depends upon autocratic governments—the rulers in Moscow and in Peking—emphasizes the sad condition in which the United Nations finds itself.

On the same day that Ambassador Goldberg was expressing his views, another important statement was made by Charles H. Malik of Lebanon, former president of the United Nations General Assembly. In a speech at Xavier University, Cincinnati, he said that the U.N., "appears helpless." He declared that the United Nations "either makes no try at all or it takes the barest step only to pull back and retire." He added:

"Those of us who had a hand in founding it and carrying it through its first golden decade are frustrated at its chronic impotence."

Mr. Malik feels that the biggest challenge to world peace is Communist China, whose regime, of course, is helping the North Vietnamese.

For some strange reason, members of the U.N. generally have not spoken up in the General Assembly and demanded that action be taken on the Vietnam war. U. Thant, secretary general, has attempted personal diplomacy, but his efforts have failed largely because world opinion has not been built up behind the peace drive. Ambassador Goldberg's speech could stimulate such a movement.

The unfortunate truth, however, is that most of the nations of the world have been reluctant to entangle themselves in any way in open expressions of sympathy with one side or the other in the Vietnam conflict. Yet the war is gradually expanding, and sooner or later will involve other countries in both Europe and Asia. The big question is why the Soviet government is not put on the spot by emphatic speeches in both the Security Council and the General Assembly, so that the whole world will be able to fix responsibility for the existing barriers to peace in Vietnam.

Certainly all the talk about a policy for the United States to make concessions in East-West trade agreements will have a hollow sound unless the Moscow government is willing to initiate peace negotiations in Vietnam. (Copyright, 1967, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate)

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

NIXON ASKS HOW FAR CAN AMERICA RETREAT?

The Senate Republican Policy Committee statement on the war in Vietnam raises the whole question of what the United States is prepared to write off.

In specifics, it asks a single question: "What precisely is our national interest in Thailand, Cambodia, Vietnam, and Laos?" But this is one of those question-begging questions. It rests on a theory that everything is important in Asia except Marxism. But this is precisely what has not been proved. Ho Chi Minh began as a Communist agent, Mao Tse-tung thinks he should be recognized as the world's foremost Leninist. So what if they are also nationalists? The whole theory of the guerrilla encirclement of capitalism derives from the eastward shift which the German Communist revolution failed to ignite in the early Nineteen Twenties. Marxism turned to Asia long ago to achieve its world objectives. So the question is whether Thailand, Cambodia, Vietnam, and Laos can be considered by themselves.

Richard Nixon's analysis is that they can't. Other Republicans aren't quite so certain, but it seems to be the conviction of a whole group, from Dirksen to Romney, that since our honor is engaged in Vietnam, we can't very well do anything but fight things through. At the other extreme Mark Hatfield seems to be a religious pacifist. And Chuck Percy apparently wishes that by the time of the 1968 election those who hunger for peace will settle for any kind of truce in the hope that Communism can be satiated.

Whether Richard Nixon will seem like a prophet in 1968 will depend on a lot of accidents. But he holds to a common-sensical conviction that there is an ebb and flow in world affairs, and that small things have far-reaching effects. If it were only a matter of Thailand, Cambodia, Vietnam, and Laos, the United States could afford to write them off without worry. But what would the effect of U.S. withdrawal from southeast Asia at this point have on Moscow and Peking?

It could only serve to revive all their confidence that Marxism, working through nationalism, must some day own the globe. At this point the Senate Republican Policy Committee would be faced with the necessity of asking other questions. One of them might be, "What precisely is our national interest in Saudi Arabia, Yemen, Somali, and Kenya?" Another might be, "Why is it necessary for us to worry about Malaysia, Singapore, Indonesia, the Philippines, Taiwan, and Japan?" Still another might be, "Why be provocative by holding West Berlin?"

Lyndon Johnson can't let go in Vietnam precisely because the Democratic Party would be through if a retreat from that area were followed by dangerous outbreak of Communist activity elsewhere. The cause-and-effect of renewed catastrophe in, say, Thailand or the Middle East would be too obvious. But if Johnson cannot gamble on the theory that Marxism is no longer a dynamic influence within the thrust of nationalism, neither can the Republicans.

This is why Richard Nixon is the most plausible Republican presidential candidate. It is not that he is saying "We or they" with any idea that universal global war must be declared on the Soviets and the Red Chinese. He is simply saying that there is an ebb and flow as between two dominant philosophies, and that if you begin writing off contested areas, the tide could move dangerously against you.

Since the American people have a vast reservoir of common sense, I would look to see Nixon do well in the primaries. His lieutenants think the ones in Wisconsin, Nebraska, and Indiana could tell the story. But primaries are, paradoxically, a secondary matter. To beat Nixon some of the other candidates will have to come to grips with the question of how much wallow Marxism still packs in its alliance with nationalism, and whether America can afford to retreat before any such alliance.

Editor, The Freeman:

Congressman Resnick, the 28th Congressional District's representative in Washington, sounds more and more like President Johnson's personal envoy to Ulster County. He is now echoing Mr. Johnson's policy of increasing aid and trade with the Kremlin and its satellites. He speaks of Hawks and Doves as if the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave were for the birds. If America really must be for the birds, let's make it the American Eagle.

Come on, Mr. Resnick, get back in the real mainstream—take the shackles off our sailors, soldiers and marines; block Haiphong harbor; stop trading with the enemy; drop that word "escalation" from your vocabulary and replace it with an American word—WIN. And let's do it now.

South's Educators Will Help Desegregate Dixie

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Office of Education will use Southern educators in a new attack this summer on the more than 1,650 Southern school districts that have lagged in meeting federal desegregation guidelines.

Plans are to hire about 35 Southern school administrators and officials for the Office of Education's annual summer compliance drive.

Drastic Change

The new program marks a shift in tactics. Last summer about 100 law students, most of them from the North, were hired to work with and investigate Southern school districts having trouble complying with 1964 desegregation order.

"We're looking for Southern educators who have had some experience with desegregation," David E. Seeley, assistant education commissioner for equal education opportunity, said in an interview. "We're looking for Southerners who know how to do it and do it right."

The idea originated with Harold Howe II, U.S. commissioner of education, who sent out letters earlier this year to state and local school officials in 17 Southern and border states.

Howe requested the officials to recommend likely candidates for the summer compliance drive and offered to pay between $750 and $1,250 per month to the right men. Despite the relatively high pay, Seeley said only about 20 candidates have been tentatively accepted, although he hopes the program will enlist 35 men. "It's a problem," he said, "how to get people interested."

One of the major problems is the general lack of responsibility among education professionals in the South. "By and large," Seeley said, "the education profession has not assumed its responsibilities" regarding desegregation compliance.

The educators will work with 65 part-time students this summer and visit districts throughout the South. Last summer's law student brigade ran into considerable criticism throughout the South. Statistics indicate that as of this year 12.5 per cent of Negro children are attending desegregated schools in 11 Southern states. Recent Office of Education figures show 1,652 school districts in the South still have some segregated classes, although desegregation plans gradually are under way. An additional 219 districts are under federal court orders to desegregate. The more than 350 Southern school districts which have been cited for noncompliance with the Civil Rights Act stand to lose at least $16 million in federal school aid.

Award Homecoming Cabaret Best Plays

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Drama Critics Circle has chosen "The Homecoming" as the best play of the 1966-67 Broadway season and "Cabaret" as the best musical. Both winners were picked Tuesday in weighted run-off ballots after no show won majority support on first ballots.

Balance," which won a Pulitzer Prize last week, was voted the second-best play and "I Do! I Do!" the second best musical.

"The Homecoming," a British play, was written by Harold Pinter. "Cabaret" was the work of Joe Masteroff, John Kander and Fred Ebb.

Unity Is Urged In Drive for Registration

Orvil E. Norman, Republican candidate for County Legislature, District 2, proposed to Marletown Republican Club that the club work in cooperation with all political clubs in the county in order to promote enough interest for people to get registered this year under the new Personal Permanent Registration Law.

Norman stated that regardless of political feelings, all Democrats, Conservatives and Liberals, as well as Republicans, should work shoulder to shoulder and urge the people in the county to get registered during any weekday between now and September 5 at Ulster County Election Board Office in the County Building.

Norman further stated that he became the 104th person to register at this office and it took less than three minutes. This is certainly better than putting a work load on the individual voting places during the one week in October when registration takes place. It also beats standing in line, stated Norman.

Lady Bird in NYC

Do You Remember

By Sophie Miller

It seems the week of April 17th stays too cold for even the bright yellow and blue crocus, for the cold nights with them. It seems every year, April 7th is the day in my section that a crocus first comes out to meet the spring sun. I remember, years ago, without all this talk of beautification, when most house-holders had spring flowers around their homes in sight of the street. They had vegetable gardens also. Today with law and order a thing of history, and vandalism unrestrained, it is indeed sad that our parks cannot remain long glorious with flowering bushes and flowers. There is still admiration for flowers but not enough respect by a few who ruin it for all others. I remember that on the streets of Kingston may flowers grew right along sidewalks and near curbs, and everyone carefully walked so as not to step on them.

There has been various reports as to the miles of Kingston streets, and I recently checked with the engineer's office in the City Hall because I too wanted to know, and was told there were 95 miles given on the state aid report. I do not know how many miles were lost to urban renewal, with the streets closed. I do not even know if an entire mile has been lost, but the streets leading to the tenants still living there could stand some black top cold patch at this time, as they used to get every spring. People still live and breathe in this section, and have to commute in and out of the section. It will be now interesting to watch the arterial highway, and the new bridge working groups come to town and plan out exact location. The young generation which have now gone through this urban renewal exodus will, in their time, see some of this come to pass.

I have a Hudson River Day Line souvenir magazine, Vol. XXIV — No. 2 July, 1911.

There are many pictures, information and advertisements in this booklet, and also the musical programs for the Day Line. One item reads: "The Day Line steamers make direct wharf connections at Kingston Point and Catskill with the railroads operating to all the resorts of the famous Catskill Mountains. Terms for good farm houses and boarding house accommodations average from $8.00 to $15.00 per week. The peaks and vales of these legendary heights welcome a vast army of vacation seekers each summer, who find fresh air and beauty of surroundings ideal for a healthful and peaceful vacation and recreation."

It is written in this booklet about Andrew Carnegie giving a school $100 because they, the children, invited him to their May Day fete in which they danced the Highland Fling in his honor. The Principal of the school, Miss Margaret Knox, took a vote among the 180 children taking part what to do with the money and they decided on a boat ride to Newburgh and back. This school was in New York City.

In 1911 they had a trip from Kingston Point to Mount Beacon, by Day Line Steamer, which left Kingston Point and returned by steamer, Mary Powell from Newburgh to Rondout in the evening at the rate of $1.45 for the round trip.

To the people of Albany they recommended a trip on the Day Line and a picnic at Kingston Point Park, the most charming day resort along the Hudson River, or a trolley ride through the beautiful and historic city of Kingston, where the first Constitution of the State of New York was adopted. In Kingston one can see quaint old stone houses, some built prior to the Revolution, and many other structures of interest. The Round trip tickets in 1911 was $1.00.

Seminole Name New President

OKALEE INDIAN VILLAGE, Fla. (AP) — A 30-year-old, college-educated social worker is the new president-elect of the Seminole Indian nation.

Joe Dan Osceola, who lives at Brighton Seminole Reservation where the majority of Indians live in palm-thatched chickee huts, had campaigned on a platform of more street lights, and increased industry for the $13-million Seminole corporation.

He won by almost two to one over the incumbent, the Rev. Bill Osceola, a direct descendant of a Seminole warrior chief and an ordained Baptist minister. The candidates are not related.

In a field of five candidates, with 78 per cent of the 380 registered voters casting ballots Joe Dan drew 156 votes and Bill got 85. The men shook hands when the vote count was completed early today.

Bill had held the $8,300-a-year presidency since the tribe set up the office in its 1957 constitution. Joe Dan attended Georgetown College in Kentucky from 1957 until he dropped out in 1962.

Buffalo Doubles Rates for Water

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — An ordinance doubling city water rates has been adopted in the hope that the additional revenue will provide pay increases sought by city employees, including protesting firefighters.

The ordinance was approved Tuesday by the city's Common Council in a straight party vote with 11 Democrats voting "yes" and four Republicans casting a "nay."

Both the new rates and the city employees' pay raises were expected to become effective July 1. The metered rates for houses, business and industries vary greatly.

Mayor Frank A. Sedita, who signed the proposal into law after the council action, said new revenue estimates would be submitted to the council. An additional $4.3 million was expected to be realized.

Resnick Supported On JP Court Stand

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick received strong backing recently on his views that lower court justice needs overhauling and the justice of the peace system is archaic and inequitable. The Ellenville Democrat put the spotlight on untrained justices and their administrations locally when he publicized the Kendall Jett case, which resulted in the sentencing of a 24-year-old itinerant worker from Rhode Island to one year in Ulster County jail on charges of stealing cigarettes and razor blades from a candy store by Justice of the Peace Ronald Elias of Ellenville.

Now, says Resnick, the Ulster County case, which he denounced as "vigilante frontier-style justice," and others of its type, have been stingingly criticized on four national fronts.

The congressman cited the President's National Crime Commission, a move by N. Y. State Constitutional Convention delegate-at-large Justice Bernard Bottein to introduce a resolution abolishing justices of the peace, a New York Times editorial and a Christian Science Monitor article as proof that what held true in the Jett case holds true throughout the nation.

Widespread Inequity

The National Crime Commission, he says, this week issued a statement reporting widespread "inequity, indignity and ineffectiveness in the country's misdemeanor courts where about 90 per cent of the criminal cases are heard."

"No program of crime prevention will be effective without a massive overhaul of the lower criminal courts," the Commission report said.

"The many persons who encounter these courts each year can hardly fail to interpret that experience as an expression of indifference to their situations and to the ideals of fairness, equality, and rehabilitation professed in theory, yet frequently denied in practice."

In a related development, Justice Bernard Bottein, delegate-at-large to New York's Constitutional Convention, criticized the lower court system for its lack of facilities, including adequate probation services and prosecution and defense counsel.

"Without these services," Justice Bottein said, "the bail decision, the sentencing function, often the trial decision itself, are speculative and are often unconstitutional."

Few Are Lawyers

Justice Bottein said that of the 2,500 justices of the peace in New York State, only 20 per cent of them are lawyers. These lay justices have the power to sentence defendants to jail for as much as one year.

Stating that he plans to introduce a resolution designed to abolish state justices of the peace, Bottein said, "The administration of justice in modern times is not a local matter."

In addition, the New York Times, in an editorial this week, praised Justice Bottein for his stand, and urged support of a "merit-selection plan for candidates for judicial office."

The Christian Science Monitor, in a recent series, concluded that the "minor-court system no longer meets today's needs." Calling the entire system, "assembly line justice," the Monitor said, "the minor court magistrate, day after day, dispenses justice like an Army mess sergeant dishing out boiled potatoes and meat loaf."

Will Court Martial Doctor; Wouldn't Train Men for Viet

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Each side is reportedly planning to call 40 or more witnesses in the court-martial of an Army doctor charged with refusing to obey orders and train men for Vietnam duty.

Capt. Howard Levy, 30, of Brooklyn, N.Y., faces the military tribunal at nearby Ft. Jackson today after several efforts to get the trial transferred to a civilian court failed. The proceeding is expected to last a week.

The five charges against the specialist in dermatology include refusal to obey an order that he train Vietnam-bound Army Special Forces medics in the treatment of skin diseases.

Refuse Civil Trial

A motion that precedent be shattered and the case be transferred to civilian courts was refused by the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington Tuesday.

Anthony Amsterdam, an attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, argued for the transfer and said a soldier's right of free speech overrides the military right to silence him unless national security is directly involved.

He asked that the appeals court overrule a district court that refused last week to take the case from the military tribunal.

Irwin Goldbloom, arguing for the U.S. Justice Department, said "the Levy case involved military discipline, not freedom of speech."

"Levy is asking unprecedented release, release which no court ever has granted," Goldbloom said.

Levy also faces charges on connection with statements that he would refuse to serve in Vietnam if ordered to do so and his alleged references to Special Forces soldiers as "liars, thieves and killers."

Levy also is charged with "conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman."

If convicted, Levy could be imprisoned for 11 years.

Levy has not been in custody except for the few days after the charges were first announced last December. He has continued his work at Ft. Jackson and during the court-martial will be allowed to return to his Columbia apartment each night.

Levy's mother and father are in Columbia for the court-martial. His father, Howard Levy Sr., is a sales executive for an electronics firm in New York.

TV Doesn't Want Berman's Ideas; He Won't Starve

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Shelley Berman recently concluded a two-year contract with a Hollywood studio to develop comedy series for television. He developed a couple. Neither was sold.

He isn't exactly bitter about the so-called creative side of television, but it is easy to sense his disenchantment.

Formula Gals

"It seems to me that the buyers — the producers, the networks, the sponsors — want comedy that identifies the jokes," he said. "So it became almost mandatory to write by formula — you know, the old story about mistaken identity and that sort of thing."

"You just can't present human beings because somehow they have forgotten that human beings are often funny. They have also forgotten, it seems to me, that there are human beings out there in living rooms."

Berman said that he thought his two shows were funny — "They made me laugh" — but they are now on a shelf somewhere. He continues his successful career as a comedy monologist and is soon to direct a play for Broadway. He will be one of the stars in NBC's "Comedy Hour" special Thursday night, doing a telephone act that made him famous.

No Easy Job

"I hadn't done it for about eight years," he said. "I had to re-learn it by listening to my record. Then it took me two full days of rehearsal — and the whole thing lasts three and one-half minutes."

CBS's "Old College Try" Tuesday night showed in low key the problems of five high school seniors of different backgrounds as they struggled with their next educational step. It showed, with some success, the thoughts of the young people and current college admissions practices.

One student was a prep school senior who wanted an Ivy League college, was turned down by his first two choices but accepted by the third. A Texas boy, a star fullback, had offers from 40 colleges and was literally rushed by college officials to get him on their team. A young, angry Negro who was tanned for a "transitional year" in New Haven, to be followed by a scholarship at Yale was not sure he wanted the experience.

The human element of the show was more interesting than the statistics. One dismaying bit of information was that while the big status push is on to enter the famous-name colleges which reject more students than they accept, there will be 50,000 vacancies in the smaller, lesser known colleges.

Fire Routs Tenants

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — A fire routed 30 tenants from the three-story Gibson Hotel early today.

No one was reported injured. William Stamps, owner and an occupant of the frame building, said there was extensive damage to the first floor and basement. Most of the occupants could return to their rooms today, he said.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

There was no estimate of the damage.
The hotel is at 461 Clarissa St.

Senate Restores Tax Incentive; Campaign Finance Bid Looks Dead

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate finally has passed the embattled bill restoring major business tax incentives—after rebuking President Johnson by tying to it a rider which would eliminate key sections of the presidential election campaign financing plan.

Foes of the financing plan, with its $1 income tax checkoff, at once claimed it is dead. They said the House is certain to accept the rider in negotiations on the legislation.

The rider, adopted after a confused afternoon of voting Tuesday, leaves the financing plan technically on the books, but states it can be reactivated only if Congress fixes guidelines for spending the government subsidy money.

Opponents of the plan said they would block any such law unless it meets their specifications.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., author of the plan, conceded its foes are in the driver's seat.

The final action on the tax bill came after almost seven weeks of bitter floor debate. Most of it centered on the Long financing plan, a subject having nothing to do with tax incentives but attached to the tax bill by procedural maneuver.

Also to be settled in a Senate-House conference on the bill are major differences on the business tax incentive provisions.

The Senate version follows President Johnson's recommendations and offers considerably less advantages to business firms than the House measure, principally through differences in timing.

The incentives restored are the 7 per cent investment credit on machinery and equipment and two favorable accelerated depreciation methods for income-producing buildings.

They were suspended late last year in a move to fight inflation. Sluggishness in the economy brought Johnson's request for their restoration.

Tuesday's floor votes started with a razor-thin victory for forces supporting continuation of the campaign financing plan—including Johnson and high administration officials.

They defeated 49 to 48 a proposal by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., chief advocate of repeal to make the plan inoperative

Sept. 15 unless Congress subsequently decided otherwise.

Then Gore, faced with a compromise offered by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield which he said was unacceptable, thrust forward another provision which attracted enough support to bring Gore from defeat to victory.

Still on Books

Mansfield's plan left the campaign financing act on the books but provided that none of the money could be spent until Congress sets up guidelines for its use by political parties.

Gore added a requirement making the $1 income tax checkoff provision inoperative until the guidelines are enacted—if they ever are.

As passed last year, the plan envisioned income tax designations by taxpayers making up to $30 million available to each of the major parties for the 1968 presidential campaign.

The effect of the rider, if it stays in the bill in conference, is to knock out both the money-collecting and money-disbursing features of the election subsidy plan, leaving only a shell of the act in the law.

Dutchess Acquires Fame as Home Where the Fierce Buffalo Roam

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

Freeman Feature Writer

Unofficially her name is Sara and, at any given moment, her slender knobby legs are inclined to wobble rather comically beneath the weight of her 75 pounds. There will come a day, however, when she will be awesomely majestic, stand almost six feet tall at the peak of her hump, measure nine feet from stem to stern and weigh some 1,300 pounds.

Right now, she's a shiny reddish-tan and oddly proportioned, to say the least—giving the overall impression of top-heaviness—and with the tiniest of flag-like tails and the promise of a bearded chin. Despite such undistinguished physical attributes, she's currently the reigning celebrity in Dutchess County—a fact rather surprising in itself since she is only one week old.

Sara is a baby North American Bison (more frequently known as a buffalo) and she managed to get herself born last Tuesday at 5:30 p. m. in all unlikely places, Stormville, on Homestead Farms, about 18 miles southeast of Poughkeepsie.

No Vanishing Breed

Actually, it's not so unlikely as it seems at first glance, once you've been advised of the interests and plans of Charles F. Tucker Jr., manager of Homestead Farm. And, if you've been living under the delusion that the buffalo is a vanishing breed, existing under the cloud of extinction, you'll be interested in knowing that Sara is one of about 14,000 buffalo living on 220 ranges, parks and private ranches from California to Rhode Island today.

She is, however, the first baby born in the unique herd at Homestead—a herd which numbers 14 and which manager Tucker hopes will someday grow to 60.

Tucker started his herd of buffalo, long considered a symbol of the American West, in October 1965 after he saw an advertisement for a buffalo sale on a South Dakota ranch in a weekly western paper to which his uncle subscribes. He'd been thinking about drumming up a renewed interest among gourmets in buffalo steaks for a long time and the ad set the whole plan into motion. He placed a long distance call, put in a phoned bid and, that night, received a return call informing him he was now a buffalo owner. Since then, he's made two more purchases to add to the herd: arranged to have them shipped in to Dutchess County by truck from Minneapolis and Colorado.

Buffalo at Homestead are still "just a sideline," says Tucker, who runs a regular beef operation which includes 180 head of Hereford cattle and 50 head of sheep. He does not keep the buffalo separated from the other animals, he says, but—although they graze in the same pasture—they keep to themselves. Clanish and irascible, the bison is noted for rugged self-sufficiency and inbred herd instinct.

Sara a la Carte

Tucker is raising his buffalo for profit and, someday, Sara—who is currently the darling of the busloads of school children who have been streaming in to see her—will probably end up on a menu. Homestead has not yet marketed bison steaks since the operation is really just getting started, but there is very definitely a select market for the meat and hides these days.

Tucker points to a man he has met on trips out West and admires, Roy Houck, who keeps more than 1,400 buffalo on his Standing Butte Ranch in South Dakota, and last year shipped some 28,000 pounds of buffalo meat to Chicago for food chains and restaurants for buffalo-burgers and the gourmet market. Buffalo steak fanciers are a growing breed in the West, wholesale markets are springing up in various places for rare meats of all types and gourmet restaurants are flourishing in every major metropolis. The animals are also now being sold for breeding purposes and Tucker faces no problems in helping to bring the buffalo back. A picture of Sara in a Poughkeepsie paper brought a rash of phone calls to Homestead Farms from people who hoped to buy a buffalo steak for Sunday dinner.

A call to New York City's famed "21 Club" elicited the information that, "Plenty of good, rugged American males are eating bison today." Although the head chef said he had no fresh buffalo steaks in his larder at the moment, he advised us that during hunting season, the meat is always available. A similar call to Trader Vic's, best known for its exotic Polynesian food, brought the information that, "We have a hundred buffalo steaks in our locker right now." Over at Hammacher-Echlemmer, a haughty voice informed us, "But, of course, we ship frozen bison steaks anywhere in the world today by mail order or air freight." Furthermore, a furrier friend says there's a fashion trend toward durable, lightweight buffalo coats. Consider, therefore, the fragile, ironing board figure of Twiggy, modeling in the magazines next fall a hide that once covered an imposing, fiercely snorting, enormously woolly-headed buffalo.

Before Sara ends up on a table or garment rack, however, she'll have free roam of Homestead's 1,100 acres and will come under the scrutiny of the curious, who regularly visit the farm to see the unusual herd. Like the many millions of her ancestors, who once roamed North America and often put early train schedules hours behind time, Sara and her Dutchess County relatives are remarkably hardy. Tucker says that out West, they live through week-long blizzards without shelter and are able to survive without being fed. He feeds his own herd hay in the winter but never has to worry about water problems or keeping them in barns.

Survival Expert

It is small wonder that the buffalo, once so numerous but nearly exterminated through wanton slaughter, has survived and made a comeback. Under the big sky, there was always buffalo ahead to be shot and whitened bones littered the West on the spots where they were butchered. Early in this century, there were only some 500 left but, today, thousands again graze in 46 states and all across Canada.

Sara, who was named by the Tucker children, follows them around like a puppy—but she will not always be so docile. In short months, she'll be far from gentile and the youngsters will have to be warned to be wary of her suspicious nature. "Pet" buffalo have been known to fatally gore their owners and have never been credited with being one of man's best friends. Still, one can hardly blame them after what man almost managed to do to them.

Nevertheless, Sara's arrival was cause for excitement at Homestead Farms last week. So eagerly had she been awaited over the past nine months that on the afternoon of her birth, Mrs. Tucker and one of her children—both ill in bed—insisted on being bundled up and driven out by car to see this phenomenal infant.

If buffalo are not the rarity they once were, a new born calf in this area certainly is. There are a few bison at the Catskill Game Farm, another small herd on a private farm nearby, one upstate and some in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. But wobbly-legged Sara holds a distinctive place in local annals . . . and always will.

Females Valuable

Cuddling close to her buffalo cow mother and suckling contentedly, she's not only a pretty picture but a nostalgic reminder of the Great Plains and the herds that once thundered there. The fact that she will graze instead on the well-manured, emerald green, rolling farmland of Dutchess County detracts not at all from the interest she stirs. She is cunning, frolicsome and adorable, as all babies are . . . and there's even a chance that she may never be on a menu. Like South Dakotan Houck, who has acquired his large herd by refusing to sell a single female until he reaches the magic number of 3,000, Tucker, too, will probably think twice about letting this grownup calf and others of her sex go on the block before his herd climbs to 60.

Should she ever make her way to your table, however, you'll find her meat tastes like beef except that it is slightly darker, tenderer, smaller grained and much lower in cholesterol. Breeder Tucker, who has been at Homestead since he was discharged from the army in the fall of 1945 and made the switch from dairy to beef cattle, adding buffalo along the way, admits he has never tasted bison himself. A delicatessen owner we consulted locally said he used to carry the canned variety but gave it up because it wasn't the "hottest seller in the world." Another said he wouldn't have it in his store for humane reasons. But a public relations executive's wife up the road—a gourmet cook who does patronize such haughty establishments as Hammacher-Schlemmer—furnished us with a flavorful description.

It remains only to be said that if the Homestead Act was the most potent factor in promoting the advance of the farming frontier, which helped to nearly obliterate the buffalo—Homestead Farms may be almost as influential in bringing the buffalo back.

Washington's Ancestry

George Washington was a third-generation Virginian. His great-grandfather had come over from England to pick up a cargo of tobacco in 1656. A storm drove the ship aground and he remained in the New World.

See Ike Leaving Hospital in Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, 76, will remain hospitalized for at least the remainder of the week while his condition continues to improve, say his doctors.

The diagnosis of acute gastroenteritis — inflammation of the lining of the stomach and small intestine — remains provisional more than three days after the five-star general was admitted to Walter Reed Army Hospital about midnight Saturday.

His doctors, however, said Tuesday nothing has happened so far to alter their initial impression that only gastroenteritis beset him.

Look for Beep Beep

SEDRO WOOLLEY, Wash. (AP) — The residents of Sedro Woolley are going batty over a "beep beep" that's been bugging them every night for a month.

The strange noise, which seems to fit through the wooded hills nearby, starts about 9:30 p. m. and continues until dawn. When the beeping begins, the usual frog and cricket noises cease, listeners report.

An estimated 400 persons drove out to investigate the mysterious sound Monday night, and two deputy sheriffs sent out to check the noise wound up directing traffic instead. Sheriff John Boynton issued a public appeal Tuesday for people to stay home.

The source of the sound couldn't be as dangerous as some of those looking for it, Boynton said.

Business Mirror Reflections

Wage-Price Guideposts Must Be Part of Scene

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The administration is now suggesting that wage-price guideposts, which some economists, editors, businessmen and government officials had consigned to the past, will be present in the future.

The guideposts have never been dead. Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, told a business writers meeting. If they were dead, well, they'll be disinterred.

Safety Council To Meet Tonight

The recent rash of burglaries in Port Ewen, as well as burglaries which have been occurring in the Miller's Lane-Pearl Street areas of Kingston, will be delved into at a meeting of the newly formed Public Safety Council in the City Court room of Kingston's City Hall tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

The council is seeking to help cut down the soaring crime rate locally by cooperating with area law enforcement officials.

Tonight's meeting will also include a discussion of replies recently received from letters written to various city and county officials concerning crime problems, law enforcement practices and new juvenile detention quarters. The council apparently received a specific request to look into the crime problem in the Port Ewen area and all persons there and elsewhere, who are interested in better law enforcement, are urged to attend this latest in a series of sessions.

What is important is that some of those to whom the guideposts apply believe the posts might as well be buried for all the guidance they give. The main feature still calls for voluntary restraint. It is hardly more specific.

More Guidance?

This puts a great responsibility on business and labor. Is it too much for them? Do they need more guidance? Business, at least, is urged by law to compete. And it is asked by guideposts to restrain itself.

Two very powerful, and in some way contradictory, forces are involved: restraint for the common good of wage and price stability, and competition for the private goal of the greatest profit.

In the past the guideposts have had some success in warding off inflation. But things were different then. The economy was expanding rapidly, and so workers had their high wages and business had its profits.

Economy Has Slowed

The economy has slowed some. And now also the guideposts are as indistinct as a curbstone in a blizzard.

In general, guideposts work on the belief that price levels will not rise in an inflationary way if labor's wage gains do not exceed productivity gains, and if business keeps its level of profits constant.

In both 1965 and 1966 this gain in productivity was pegged at 3.2 per cent. This was the average annual increase in output per man hour for private industry for a five-year period.

Consider Price Cut

Workers were expected not to exceed this in their wage demands. An industry which achieved this average was deemed capable of paying such a raise. And if the industry had even larger gains it should consider a price cut.

Now, however, the formula has been violated time and time again. And the specific guide of 3.2 per cent has been dropped, either as outdated or because it was so abused. What is left is a formula but not a guide.

The administration now says the next step in revitalizing the guideposts must be taken soon, but it doesn't say what this step will be or when it will be taken or even who should take the initiative in devising it.

Farmers Object Strongly To Market Service Pools

NEW YORK (AP) —Upstate independent dairy farmers Tuesday voiced strong objections to continuing payments into a market-wide services pool for the benefit of milk cooperatives.

One couple, Madelyn and Robert Brown, of Campbell Hall, N.Y., said the compulsory payments by non-member farmers were illegal and caused unfair competition.

They testified at a hearing conducted by the New York-New Jersey Milk Marketing Administration in connection with the 1937 Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act.

The pact established "cooperative payments" which under a complicated formula requires dairy producers to pay an average of 2.4 cents per hundredweight of milk into a fund.

Big Time Project

The fund is earmarked for marketing surveys, analyses and educational programs to aid the area's 40,000 dairy farmers. Approximately a quarter of a million dollars is paid monthly into the pool.

The payments were challenged by the farm group in 1965. As a result of a lawsuit the federal government held hearings on the issue in Washington and Syracuse, N.Y.

Following the sessions, the Agricultural Department handed down a recommended decision last January. The opinion recommended reducing the amounts of payments by 55 per cent, cutting the costs to an average of 1.2 cents per hundredweight.

Two of the three cooperatives currently receiving the payments called for reopening of the hearings.

This morning's opening session, conducted by Benjamin Holtstein, examiner for the agricultural department, heard several farmers express opposition to the payments. The Browns who operate a 186-acre dairy farm in Middletown, N.Y., said that no independent milk processor could compete with cooperatives.

Don't Profit

Brown contended that he and other nonmembers did not profit by the services rendered as a result of the payments.

Another farmer, Wilson Swets, of Edwards, N.Y., in St. Lawrence County, said that the payments tended to give the coops an unfair advantage. He charged that the coops were not effective in seeking a higher price for milk.

Another farmer, Glenn Bullock, 68, also of Edwards, assailed the payments as giving the cooperatives a monopoly in the industry. Bullock operates a 6,000-acre farm with 500 head. He called for elimination of the payments.

He said he had been forced to join and sell his milk to one of the cooperative processing plants after his milk handling plant had gone bankrupt.

District 2 Candidates Night Planned

Marbletown Republicans voted to cooperate with GOP Clubs from Hurley, Ulster and Kingston in presenting a candidates night for District 2 county legislators hopefuls in June.

Committee for this candidates night is Robert Diamond, George Reisenauer and E. Shumate from Marbletown; Norman Fowler, Agatha Castiglione and Alma Macholdt from Ulster; Robert Ferrigan, Joseph Corcorano and Donald Patton from Kingston. Hurley members are to be named.

The committee will set up a night in early June for the joint meeting to be held in central part of Hurley and all eight candidates for county legislature in District 2 will be invited to speak with equal time and will be given a chance to meet the public which will also be invited.

Town Councilman Shumate gave a full report to the members regarding the latest Marbletown board meeting regarding the proposed farm labor trailer camp which has been so controversial of late.

Club Vice President Orvil E. Norman gave a recommendation for amending the existing by-laws in order to set the annual meeting date correctly in February.

Norman was also named as chairman for the annual club picnic to be held sometime in August at the Town Recreation Center.

The club was visited by some members of the Town of Ulster GOP Club as well as the following Legislature Candidates: Jack Marquardt, Robert Kelder, Frank Miller, Lester Elmendorf and Orvil E. Norman.

Milwaukee Teacher Heads All-Events

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A Milwaukee, Wis., physical education teacher rolled an unofficial 1862 Tuesday to dash into the Division I all-events lead in the women's International Bowling Congress Tournament.

Mrs. Carol Miller, 33, electrified the tourney with a 710 series, including a 278 singles game Monday. She helped Pitch's Lounge of Milwaukee to a 2877 and fourth place in the team standings.

Forecast Federal Refusal Of Antipoverty Newspaper

By TOM SEPPY
WASHINGTON (AP)—A controversial request for federal funds to publish a weekly newspaper for the poor in western North Carolina is not likely to win approval from the anti-poverty agency, sources indicated today.

In the past, the Office of Economic Opportunity has refused to fund a newspaper project because, as one official said last year, "there are serious doubts as to the propriety of federal funding of a commercial newspaper."

The OEO has, however, given funds to local community action agencies which have used part of the money to print mimeographed newsletters explaining anti-poverty programs and giving other information. This is particularly true on Indian reservations.

The North Carolina controversy arose when WAMY Community Action Inc., local anti-poverty organization in the counties of Watauga, Avery, Mitchell and Yancey, requested $179,000 to begin a weekly newspaper.

The proposal, dated April 11, said the funds also would be used to present a daily hour-long radio program over local commercial stations.

When the request was made public, North Carolina congressmen and the Asheville, N.C., Citizen criticized the proposal.

"This project is unnecessary, unrealistic, unwise and un-American," said Rep. Roy A. Taylor, D-N.C. "It is an insult to America's newspapers, big and small, and to the American free enterprise system. It is a step toward federally financed and controlled press."

An OEO spokesman said the request had been received here but no action had been taken on it.

Note Precedent

Informed sources indicated the project would not receive federal approval because the similar requests 1½ years ago—the only other such proposal received—was turned down.

The OEO at that time told University Neighborhood Council, a Washington community action agency, it could not approve its request for $150,000 because "the project is not sufficiently innovative."

The agency also said it does not seem "the essentially conventional approach of a weekly newspaper will provide the answers to — or even research into — the many unknowns of 'communication.'"

At the time, the American Newspaper Publishers Association protested any government subsidy of a newspaper as a matter of fundamental principle.

Give Bureaucrats Taste Medicine
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sometimes Congress deals directly with the foibles of bureaucracy. So it was that Wilbur J. Cohen, undersecretary of health, education and welfare, had to lug 24 copies of a HEW publication from a hearing of a House Appropriations subcommittee.

Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa., told Cohen the department mailed to the subcommittee 25 copies of a $1 tract called Research and Education. The committee needs only one copy.

Flood said, and had so informed HEW Secretary John W. Gardner several weeks ago. HEW continued to mail 25 copies.

"This is a very expensive operation," Flood told Cohen. "We do not need any more. You just cannot get off of this treadmill. We did not ask for them and we do not want them. Do you want to take them home?"

Cohen took them and vowed HEW's mailing list would be straightened out.

The incident occurred at a ## da Vinci Show Will Feature Models, Sketches

An exhibition showing the inventive genius and foresight of Leonardo da Vinci will be sponsored by Ulster County Community College in Bethany Hall of the Old Dutch Church, 272 Wall Street. The grand opening is slated for Sunday, May 14, from 5-8 p. m. and the exhibit will run until June 7.

Weekday public showings will be from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m., and on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings from 6-9 p. m. Saturday showings will be from 9 a. m. to noon.

Plans for the exhibit are in the charge of Professor Frederick N. Misner, chairman of the Division of Science and Mathematics at UCC, and Professor Derwin H. Stevens, a division member.

The exhibition of the 15th century artist's work, on loan from IBM's Department of Arts and Sciences, will include a flying machine, a paddle wheel ship, an armored tank, a scaling ladder that resembles modern fire-fighting apparatus, and a device for measuring the tensile strength of wire.

The newly redesigned exhibition will feature models painted red, yellow, blue and green, displayed with panels of explanatory material and sketches reproduced from Leonardo's notebooks.

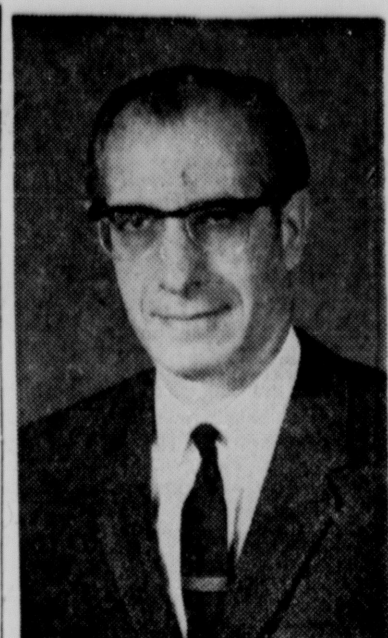

Although the artist considered war, "a bestial madness," he was one of the leading military engineers of his time, but many of the panels will show da Vinci sketches in such fields as mathematics, optics, astronomy, botany and city planning.

Dismiss Murder Charges on Pair

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A judge has dismissed first-degree murder charges against two men in the shooting of a man in an eastside tavern here April 29.

City Judge William P. Burke dropped the charges Tuesday that had been filed against Charles H. Lee, 22, of Syracuse, and Charles L. Haines, 29, of Brooklyn. The judge said he acted on a defense motion that information against the two was hearsay evidence and insufficient to connect them with the crime.

The motion was not opposed by Assistant Dist. Atty. Matthew Namishia.

Lee and Haines had been charged in the death of David P. Jones.

Buffalo Negroes Will Watch Police

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A Negro civil rights group has formed a special squad to prevent further instances of what its leaders contend is police brutality on the city's east side.

The squad, consisting of up to 25 volunteers of BUILD, will be in the streets to observe police activity, the Rev. S. Frank Emmanuel, BUILD president, said Tuesday in the group's first major policy statement.

These volunteers will "take notes, names and badge numbers" in any cases they consider worthy of reporting, the Rev. Mr. Emmanuel added.

He said there were "many instances" of police brutality and profanity in quelling outbreaks of violence and looting on two separate nights last week on the east side.

Cool Reception

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A gunman got a cool reception from Harold Kelly Tuesday.

The man entered Kelly's ice cream truck and demanded money. Kelly hit him over the head with a gallon container of ice cream, knocking the man out the door. Then he heaved a few more gallons as the man fled.

Win or Lose Finesse Works

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

All was not a bed of roses or the Mathe team in their winning of this year's Vanderbilt Cup.

In the final match Paul Levitt of New Orleans proceeded to make a fine four heart contract which his opposite number on. At the table they are a different proposition.

Paul let the first spade trick go to East. East returned a spade whereupon Paul proceeded to cash the ace of clubs, ruff his last spade and lead a trump to his king.

Then he led a heart toward dummy and finessed the ten. When the finesse worked Paul's troubles were over. He did have to lose two diamonds eventually but he could afford to.

Let's see what would have happened if the finesse had lost. East would have had no satisfactory card to return. A spade lead would give Paul a ruff and discard. A club lead would allow him to make tricks with both the king and jack. A low diamond would allow Paul to play the eight and force West to play either the ace or jack while the ten of diamonds lead would give Paul a chance to play his queen and eventually finesse against West's jack.

Of course, Paul's play would have failed if East did hold the queen of hearts and West the ace, jack and ten of diamonds but the play made carried the best percentage available and it did succeed.

on the Mathe team failed to bring home. Paul's play is worthy of study since he worked out a combination play that enabled him to take a trump finesse and not really care if it won or lost. Plays of this type look mighty easy when you see them later.

Husband Cooks While Wife Leads Protest

By MIKE RHEA

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Mrs. Pat Griffith, a slender, graying mother of four, left Baltimore by rail late Monday to return to her crusade. She rode a train into Ithaca, N.Y., ready to travel again to organize and protest against a war she believes is wrong.

At home, with her children, aged 4 to 13 and her husband, Joe Griffith, a chemistry teacher at Cornell University, she'll begin the campaign to organize Upstate New York into a vocal, active group speaking out against the war in Vietnam and the draft.

Mrs. Griffith, 32, is no newcomer to protests. In 1962 she was active in the campaign for a nuclear test ban treaty. She spent the summer of 1963 in the Mississippi Delta, working for civil rights.

Now she's a field secretary for the Inter-University Committee, which she says has members in 80 universities in the nation.

Protests Planned

She was in Baltimore Monday for a regional meeting of the Vietnam Summer Committee, an antiwar group planning protests.

Her job is to organize and train college students to conduct house-to-house canvasses, hold meetings in homes and churches, and organize opposition to the draft in Rochester, Buffalo, Syracuse, Binghamton, Elmira and Ithaca.

Mrs. Griffith spent 11 days in North Vietnam five months ago and says she believes the United States is wrong and that North Vietnam is right.

"The suffering of the people of North Vietnam is very great, but they believe they're fighting for the independence of their country, and our bombing is not decreasing their determination to win that independence," she said.

This weekend she'll be traveling again, Chicago Friday, Columbus, Ohio, Saturday for two more regional meetings mobilizing the Vietnam Summer Movement.

Asked if her husband minds her prolonged absences, she said that he is also active. "He fills in at home," she said, "and watches the kids, cooks, and does the laundry when I'm not at home."

Hints from Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

Have you ever crawled out of a sick bed to take some medicine, only to face a bottle you couldn't open because of a plastic band around the top?

I have used a paring knife, fork, ice pick and other sharp objects to pry off the wide plastic band around the top of the bottle, only to wind up with a wounded finger or hand.

Suddenly, after years of ignorance, I have found a solution. Hold the bottle neck under your hot water faucet. The band will peel right off, or can be slipped down so that the top can be screwed off.

F.H.L.

Well, for goodness sake! It really works. Gal, we all think you're tons to figure that one out.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

We made a nice house for our small puppy by using a large, square, plastic wastebasket turned over on its side. The pup can snuggle up inside and be protected on three sides. A soft pillow or blanket makes his home even more comfortable.

Lovell Braun

Dear Heloise:

When my baby outgrew his baby cradle (a little of that goes a long way). I used the remainder as filler in meat loaf, hamburgers, etc., in place of oatmeal.

Mrs. H. Jenkins

Dear Heloise:

I have just been in the hospital and have an idea for people visiting those in hospitals.

If the patient enjoys yard work, a plant (such as a miniature gardenia, azalea, etc.) from a nursery will be more appreciated than cut flowers or even a potted plant.

Bulbs, or a new book on gardening also make a grand gift. These gifts are forward-looking and imply your faith the friend will be better and be able to work in the yard soon.

Mrs. R. J. Hoffman

Mrs. Hoffman, this is a wonderfully thoughtful suggestion. Not only is a plant "forward-looking," but, when it is planted in the yard, the person who received it will be reminded over and over again of your thoughtfulness.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I keep a small instant coffee jar on the back of the stove filled with two sticks of oleo.

"When a recipe calls for melted oleo or I need some that's soft for immediate spreading, I have it at my fingertips without waiting.

Mary Ann Wells

Dear Heloise:

My four-year-old enjoyed a play kitchen we made from cardboard boxes.

With a marker, I drew on the boxes to make the "appliances," and cut "doors" with a butcher knife.

After she tired of that play, I didn't mind throwing the boxes away, whereas those expensive, space-taking "bought" toys just gather dust when the interest passes.

Faithful Reader

Dear Heloise:

Whenever I go to the laundrymat I always put a pad and some envelopes in my purse and write to my friends while I wait for the laundry to be done.

M. Rasmussen

This is a good way to kill two birds with one stone, and no time wasted while waiting for the clothes to wash.

Another good timesaver is to take along your manicure tools. You'd be surprised how much better the job gets done.

NAACP Power Struggle Seen in Philadelphia

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is chopping its Philadelphia branch into five pieces in hopes of expanding membership and civil rights activities.

But, so far the major result is a rip-roaring battle among Negro leaders. One says it could destroy the movement.

National Move

The national NAACP is taking similar base-broadening action in other American cities where the Negro population is more than 200,000 — Houston, Dallas, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Omaha, Kansas City, Mo., Chicago and Detroit.

But in these places there is no serious struggle for power as in Philadelphia.

"They're trying to rip me into pieces," said Cecil Moore, a cigar-smoking attorney with a liking for expensive all-silk suits who has been local branch president since 1963.

"They'll never do it, though. I represent the masses of Negroes. They're with me, and they'll stay with me."

Moore, who is an independent candidate for mayor this fall, sought an injunction to stop the breakup of his power, but was turned down by both a lower court and the State Supreme Court, which said they had no jurisdiction in the case.

But Moore hinted this week he might seek further legal action.

Isolate Moore

Philip Savage, director of the NAACP's tri-state region — Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware — has been assigned the task of organizing four separate units leaving Moore isolated as head of the north Philadelphia area where he lives.

Savage, a former school teacher who speaks quietly in contrast to Moore's raspy tones, estimates there are about 700,000 Negroes in the nation's fourth-largest city. The 1960 census had 535,032 Negroes, or 26.7 per cent of the 2 million population.

Only in New York and Chicago are there more Negroes.

Savage reported that the national NAACP had counted only 556 paid memberships from Philadelphia for the first four months of this year, compared with 4,000 at the end of 1966.

Moore disputed this. "We have 8,000 members today," he said.

"I'm not going to attack Moore," said Savage, "but when he took over the presidency in 1963 there were more than Levy, "if Moore hadn't wrecked the city-wide chapter. And what he is still doing now could destroy the whole movement."

Moore, answering, said Levy is "now allied with the people who are against the masses."

Savage said Moore "contributed to the membership decline by castigating and threatening people of all races who opposed him."

Levy, a Negro real estate assessor, charged Moore separated Philadelphia Negroes "more effectively and more efficiently than the Ku Klux Klan or the White Citizens Council."

He said Moore did it "by embarrassing any Negro who believed in fair play."

"There wouldn't be any need for multiple branches," added

Select Schick To Head Slate Of Third Party

John J. Schick, Democratic candidate for Ulster County Judge, has accepted the Conservative Party designation for that office. If this seems a sobering and unsettling development to some political observers, it has its counterparts in the recent Democratic-Conservative backing given Kingston Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan during his first run for that post, and in the mating of Republicans and Liberals, who have assured placement of the name of present incumbent County Judge Raymond J. Mino on the ballot this fall as Schick's opponent.

Acceptance of the Conservative Party designation by Schick, a local attorney and former assistant district attorney and special judge for the City of Kingston, was made by Harry S. Hoffman Jr., chairman of the Ulster County Conservative Party. Hoffman said his party believes that Schick is "eminently qualified for the office of county judge and will strongly promote law and order locally." He praised the candidate as an "active trial lawyer and one with outstanding qualifications to head the county candidates on Row C (the Conservative line) in November."

While Conservatives seemingly feel Schick is the man of the hour, his nomination at the unofficial Democratic county convention provoked a bitter floor battle. Although he emerged the party's choice, he did so only after a motion that a committee be appointed to investigate charges that Schick's name had been connected with a group known as Democrats for Fish, had been defeated 318-21.

Withholds Support

Subsequently, Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, who ran against Republican Hamilton Fish Jr. last fall, announced he would not support Schick in the coming campaign and called him "unqualified."

Other county candidates nominated by the Conservative Party at its recent county nominating meeting were:

Fred H. DuBois (R) for County Treasurer; Richard J. Luther (R) and Conservatives Joseph Mizerek, Harry S. Hoffman Jr. and the Rev. Donald Morgan as county legislators from Saugerties District 1; Conservative William A. Jackson and Republicans Douglas Dye, Lester C. Elmendorf, John E. Marquardt and Orvil Norman as legislators from District 2; Republicans Gerard DeFelice, Irving Maurer and S. Sterling Potter as legislators from District 7; Robert L. Harp (R) and John R. Fall, independent, as District 8 legislators; Conservatives Earl F. Schoonmaker Jr., Wallace Mahan Jr. and Edgar Floersheim and Republicans Bryan R. White and Ralph Brook as legislative candidates in District 9; Albert S. Fox (D) and Philip H. Davis (R) as legislative nominees of District 11; and Republican William R. West as county legislator from Woodstock District 12.

Hoffman said candidates for the remaining districts are being named and will be announced shortly.

Arsenal to Have Message Service

Watervliet Arsenal's open house on May 20 will again provide the opportunity for visitors to send messages to friends and relatives serving with the armed forces throughout the world.

The service, one of the most popular features of the 1966 open house, will be volunteered by members of the installation's Radio Club who'll use the facilities of the arsenal's MARS (Military Affiliates Radio System) to link Watervliet with Vietnam, Korea, Germany, and all but a very few Armed Forces installations around the globe.

Messages up to 25 words in length will be transmitted by voice from the arsenal to Washington, D. C., where they'll then be relayed to the installation where the recipient is stationed. The open house, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. will also afford visitors the opportunity to see weapons being made and assembled in the many arsenal shops which will be in operation to meet military requirements in Southeast Asia.

Dutchess Meeting

Julio Vivas, executive director of the Action Council for the Poughkeepsie Area, Inc., will speak on organization of block clubs at the next meeting of the Advisory Council of the Poughkeepsie Opportunity Center, Thursday, May 11, 8 p. m. at the center offices, 9 North Perry Street. The meeting will be open to the public.

The advisory council of the Poughkeepsie Opportunity Center is made up of elected representatives of low-income neighborhoods. The council advises the center staff on needs and problems of the low-income residents of the city and assists in carrying out programs.

Report Belt Theft

Theft of a long strip of rubber belting from the Nytrale Aggregate plant on Route 32 has been reported to the sheriff's department and an investigation is under way. Roy Reid, plant manager, reported Tuesday that a rubber belt 75 feet long and 24 inches wide had been stolen.

Release 36 Cosa Nostra Suspects Caught in Raid

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Charges filed against 36 men, including seven with alleged Cosa Nostra ties, were "concocted solely for harassment and embarrassment," their lawyer contends.

All 36 persons were arrested late Monday night in a raid on a westside restaurant. They were charged with consorting with known criminals.

Judge James B. Kane Jr. of City Court dismissed the consorting charges against all of them Tuesday after their lawyers claimed the information contained in the charges were insufficient.

2 Face Charges

Two of the 36 men, however, still face assault charges. One was accused of kicking a photographer during a scuffle in a court-room corridor. Another was charged with hitting a detective during the raid.

In stating that the consorting accusations were meant to bring embarrassment, Harold J. Borcanaz, one of the defendants' lawyers, said in court the charges were made "with no source or substance whatsoever."

The police, having nothing serious with which to charge these persons, "fell back on an old catch in the Penal Law, which has no place in this society, but which allows the police to function in an illegal manner," he added.

FBI agents and City and State Police raided the restaurant after receiving a tip that a number of those at the gathering would be Cosa Nostra crime syndicate figures.

The raiders found about 300 men gathered for a dinner honoring Joseph Todaro, 43, a restaurant operator in the nearby Town of Tonawanda. Most of the guests were on the main floor.

Hide in Closet

Police said 50 men, some of whom were described by detectives as the "big boys," were in the basement. Several were found hiding in a liquor storage room, they added.

Defense lawyers said later in court the gathering "was nothing but a stag party for a young man (Todaro) about to enter the bonds of matrimony."

The FBI in Washington said, however, that the get-together was meant to honor Todaro's elevation into the Cosa Nostra.

Discounting this theory, local police officials said that because of the large number at the restaurant it was unlikely a crime organization had been planned. Other local police officials called the gathering a "little Apalachin" meeting. They referred to a convention of 60 underworld figures and friends at Apalachin, N. Y., in November, 1957.

Top Buffalo Hood

Those taken into custody Monday included Joseph DiCarlo, 66, once called Buffalo's No. 1 public enemy by city police who now link him with the Cosa Nostra.

Six others, who, police said,

She became the sixth person to announce a bid for the presidency in the Sept. 3 national elections. All the others are men.

Violates Probation

Alan N. Canoles, 22, of Box 466, Route 2, Saugerties, was arrested Tuesday by Ulster County Investigator Harold T. Bowers on a charge of violation of probation. He was committed to jail pending a hearing in court.

Warn Heights Residents Of Water Work Tonight

Once again, several Barclay Heights residents have complained to the Saugerties Town Board that all is not right with the quality of water there. On various occasions in the past, water of a brownish tint has come pouring out of faucets in Heights homes and did so again recently. The mysterious coloration creates problems in some houses; does not occur at all in others.

In an effort to solve the situation, at least partially if not entirely, Supervisor Peter Williams announced that flushing of hydrants will begin tonight. Barclay Heights residents are asked to take notice of this and make any necessary preparations.

The flushing of hydrants was one of the remedies recommended by Brinnier and Larios, the engineering firm consulted by the board in the matter. After a survey in the Heights section, engineers unearthed two separate and distinct problems—one involving the operation of an adequate quantity of water to the rapidly expanding Heights district.

Brinnier and Larios pointed out that the number of taps in the area has risen from 400 to 1,200 and said it is evident that it is absolutely necessary to proceed with the proposed plan of providing a 12-inch main from Route 9W in the vicinity of the local cemetery, down Avon Street and Highland Avenue, through the Barclay Heights subdivision and on down Oak Lane into the Gatty subdivision. The firm also recommended that the main go through the Gatty premises back to 9W and along that highway to the area where the standpipe is situated.

Car Wash Aids Basketball's Future Here

Coach John "Bud" Smith, of Saugerties High School, was guest speaker at a recent meeting of Saugerties Jaycees. Discussing a Saugerties Basketball League locally, he asked assistance from Jaycees in helping him to achieve this goal.

Quick to respond, the organization's president, Wilson Edmunds, appointed Ciro Camerota to head a Jaycees committee to operate a car wash this coming Saturday, proceeds of which will be used to assist Smith in repairing various basketball courts in Saugerties and aid him in the purchase of necessary sporting equipment.

The car wash Saturday will get underway at an early 8 a. m., run until 5 p. m. and be held at Al's Car Wash, Route 9W, Barclay Heights. Cars will be soaped down, windows and tires washed, interiors vacuumed and the entire auto wiped dry. Donations are nominal and tickets are obtainable from any Jaycee board member or at the wash on the day of the event.

Edmunds and Camerota note that this is an unusual opportunity for local residents to support a worthwhile community project and have their car made spic and span for a Sunday afternoon ride at one and the same time.

Install Brandt As Councilman

Atonement Lutheran Church, the Rev. Walter Cowen, pastor, Market Street, Saugerties, holds church services at 8 and 11 a. m. with nursery care for pre-school children at 1:15 service. Sunday school is at 9:15 a. m.

Robert Brandt of 25 Sterley Avenue, Saugerties, was installed as councilman at early service last Sunday. He will serve until the end of the year and fill out the term of Mrs. Charles Brattling Jr., of Cherry Lane, Saugerties, who resigned because of ill health.

Confirmation classes meet Wednesdays through May 24 at 1:50 p. m. The class of 13 will be confirmed Sunday, June 4, at 11 a. m. service. Invitations are being sent to baptismal sponsors of the confirmands to be present at the service, which marks the completion of responsibilities assumed by them at their baptism.

Troop 32 of the Boy Scouts meets Wednesdays at 7 p. m. at the parish house.

Senior Choir meets each week for rehearsal at 8 p. m. under the direction of Mrs. Donald Fellows with Miss Mildred Gippert at the organ. Lutheran Church Women meet Thursday, May 11, at 8 p. m. A skit will be presented by a group of members with Mrs. Thomas Seamon of Simmons Drive, in charge. Plans will be made for packing and shipping blankets, layettes, leper bandages and used clothing for Lutheran World Relief.

May is observed as Lutheran World Action month. An envelope for World Relief is in the regular envelope boxes used by members for this purpose. The Lutheran Church has been carrying on a work of work relief, training, medical assistance, and a broad relief program in 17 countries of need since 1945. The nature of most of the work has changed from direct relief to projects of well digging, job training and long term programs aimed to help people to help themselves and become self-sustained.

Ask Contractors To Meet Locally At Centerville

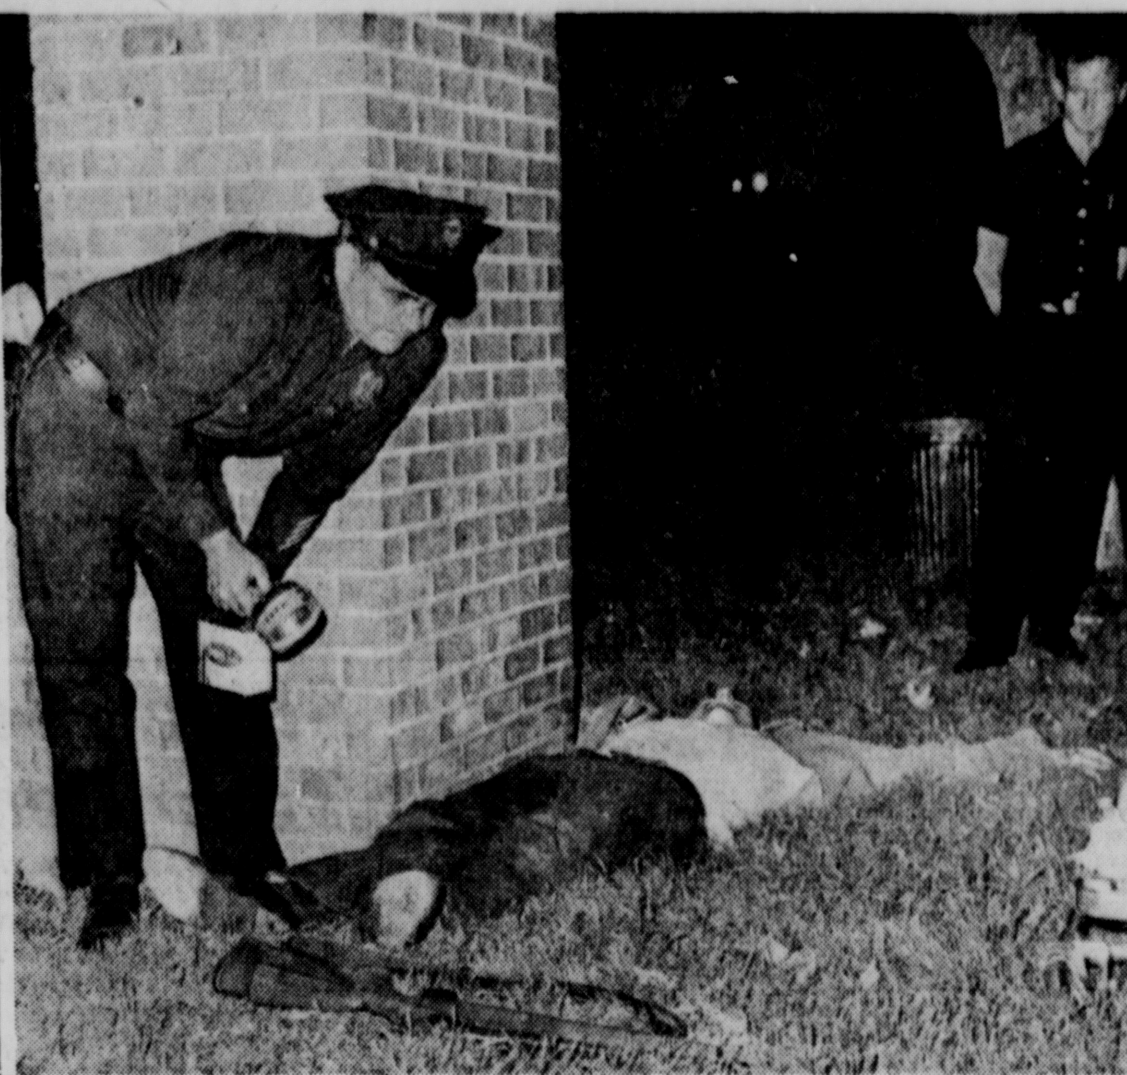

With plans progressing full steam ahead for a two-bay addition to the present engine room of Centerville Fire Company, an initial set of specifications has now been drawn up by the building committee of the local company.

Representatives of the Centerville firemen noted today that they would like to meet with any general building contractors and/or heating, plumbing and electrical contractors in the area to discuss plans and projected expenses involved.

A company spokesman said there are no plans to accept bids at this time but it is hoped the plans can be reviewed at a meeting between firemen and contractors with invitations to bid as the next proposed step toward building.

Contractors are invited to meet with company officers this Saturday at the firehouse on Route 212. Contractors who cannot be present at that time are urged to call Gene Patrik or Herbert Geick.

Upstate Girl Wins National Holstein Award

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. — Holstein-Friesian Association of America has designated Miss Rosalind E. Snider, RD 2, Fillmore, for top honors in its annual junior membership contest. The Allegany County farm girl heads a list of 33 contestants as the 1966 National Junior Holstein Champion Girl.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ceylon R. Snider submitted the best overall entry in the girls' competition for Junior members of the Holstein organization. Separate contests are held for boys and girls; the 1966 Champion Boy is G. Kent Smith of Oswego, Ill.

Following her selection as the New York Holstein Champion Girl in February, Rosalind's 4-H project and dairy herd records were entered in the national contest. Miss Snider scored heavily in her ability to keep neat, accurate records on her herd of 25 Registered Holstein dairy animals. She also reported participation in a large number of varied activities and has exhibited strong leadership qualities in youth organizations.

Of the 15 Holsteins Rosalind now owns, 12 were bred by her. Eight are cows of producing age. She has estimated the value of her herd to be in excess of $7,000. Her other 4-H

Song Objectionable Principal Charges

A program at a sophomore dance at the Cairo Central School Friday night was interrupted by an 18-year-old youth who made his way to a conspicuous place in the hall and sang a song.

School officials and others attending the dance apparently didn't object to the tune of the vocal number, but they did to the words which were described as objectionable.

State Police Sergeant G. E. Brown of Leeds said today that on Tuesday, Jay Anderson, 18, of South Cortright, was arrested on complaint of Earl Bailey, principal of the Cairo School.

The youth was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Howard Miller, Town of Cairo. He pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and sentencing was deferred until Tuesday, May 16. The arrest was made by Trooper A. J. Peterson.

club projects include clothing, foods, gardening, home management and leadership. She belongs to two clubs, Fillmore 4-H Dairy Club and Sunnyside 4-H.

Rosalind graduated from Fillmore Central School in 1965 and is now a student in the State University of New York at Buffalo. She is interested in following a nursing career.

Report Progress On Tanker Truck

Alfred Ostrander reported further progress on the preparation of the second tank truck at a recent meeting of Woodstock Fire Company No. 3. He said a test of the pump was expected to be made, and that most of the work had been done.

Activities of Boy Scout Troop 62, sponsored by the fire company, were reported by members of the troop committee and Scoutmaster Arthur Smith.

A total of two fire drills and six fire calls were reported for Company No. 3 by H. Phillips Eighcey, captain. Attendance at both fires and drills were reported satisfactory. Firemen assigned to daily station check for the month include J. Morgandahl, C. McCleary, A. Ostrander, H. Ostrander and R. Peters.

Fire drills were announced for Sunday, May 14, at 2 p. m. at the firehouse, and Wednesday, May 31, at 7 p. m. All active members are urged to attend these drills which will feature practice for the four-company fall competition.

The radio committee, headed by Joseph Flanagan, was authorized to investigate the purchase of two radio units that could be utilized in truck-to-truck and base station operations.

A family supper at the firehouse on Saturday, June 10, was announced for active firemen and their families. Firemen were also reminded of the annual rummage and bake sale sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary to be held Saturday, July 1, at the firehouse.

Slate Plant Sites Tour Here Tuesday

Some of the rapidly expanding and highly diversified industrial sites in Ulster County will be the destination of a bus tour planned in this area for the fairly new but extremely active Hudson River Valley Commission. The tour, slated for Tuesday, May 16, will take invited officials from throughout the area on an inspection trip of industrial plant sites in Kingston, Town of Ulster, Saugerties and Esopus.

The bus will leave from Kingston Trust Company, 27 Main Street, at 2 p. m. on the day of the tour and is expected to return to its departure point at approximately 4 p. m. Headed by the tour and conducting participants through sites will be Alexander Aldrich, head of the Hudson River Valley Commission and a man familiar to local voters as a candidate for Congress in the 28th District in the 1966 Republican primary against Hamilton Fish Jr.

Invitations have been extended to the supervisors of all towns to be visited and to supervisors of all Kingston wards to join the tour. Others who are expected to make the expedition are representatives of the Ulster County Planning Board and the chairmen of individual planning boards in the areas to be visited, as well as other public officials.

The Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the tour for the benefit of Aldrich, members of the commission and the others involved, has also made plans to hold a discussion session on the sites visited at the Kingston Trust Company, following the completion of the bus trip.

See Quick Okay To Keep Draft; Take Teens Ist

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indications are the Senate will grant quick passage to a bill providing a four-year extension of the draft law.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., bringing the bill to the floor today, said his Armed Services Committee unanimously backed the measure. It calls for drafting 19-year-olds first, instead of the present system of taking older men in the 18 to 26 age bracket.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the draft director, was to testify today on similar legislation before the House Armed Services Committee.

Retired Gen. Mark W. Clark told the House committee Tuesday that people who urge others to violate draft laws should be severely punished.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., a committee member, said later on the floor he is "amazed to learn the Department of Justice does not intend to prosecute these people."

2 Hurt in Greene

Stable cited German for changing lanes unsafely.

First military post to fly the Stars and Stripes was Ft. Schuyler in New York.

Set Radiation Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz has defended his new regulations on radiation levels in underground uranium mines in the face of criticisms they are impractical and could force shutdowns of some mines.

Wirtz told a Joint Committee on Atomic Energy subcommittee he set the new standards after deciding there was little prospect the Federal Radiation Council would recommend any action. The council, made up of Cabinet members, has studied the matter for several years.

Subcommittee Chairman Chet Holifield, D-Calif., called the new regulations impractical, a stance also taken by industry spokesmen.

Failure to change the regulations would expose miners to radiation levels "which at least triple their prospects of dying of lung cancer," Wirtz contended. Holifield called the new standard arbitrary and criticized Wirtz' order requiring mining companies to prove they are in compliance. He said the companies would have difficulty doing so because of difficulties in measuring underground radiation levels.

Social Agencies Elect Siewers; Hear of Plan

Lawrence Siewers, executive secretary of the Children's Home was unanimously elected president of the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies at the luncheon Tuesday noon at the YWCA. He replaces Louis H. Schaffer, retired YMCA secretary, who served two years.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Dorothy S. Pugh, retired director of the Bureau of Public Welfare in North Essex County, New Jersey. She spoke on the Council Development and Social Exchange. Many of her remarks were pertinent to the exchange that will come about in the council in its reorganization set up in the near future.

She said that the council and the community chest should be under one head. The North Essex County chest supports 32 agencies. Mrs. Pugh thought that many agencies are promoting their programs in different directions. But now with the proper coordinating features the New Jersey county agency is hitting towards the same goal and avoiding many duplications. Combined council and community chest functions are now coordinated under the United Community Service. This is the best way for all agencies and is fully supported by the Citizens' Survey, she said. The USC in North Essex County, New Jersey made 44 recommendations in 1964. Twenty-three of them have been accomplished to-date for the betterment of all agencies. Historically, the council looks to coordinating many agencies together and functioning for the betterment of the entire county.

Other officers and committees elected for the 1967-68 year are:

George Habernig, first vice president; Robert Stubbs, second vice president; Robert Johnson, secretary; Ethel Forst, treasurer; Freida Dingee, recording secretary; executive committee, Louis H. Schaffer, Charlotte Peck and Ethel Ostrander; nominating committee, Mrs. Diana Geiger, Maureen Gray and Robert A. Robertson.

The Marbletown Trailer Camp Controversy

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

When Stanley Walker awoke to the sound of drilling early one chilling May morning he also awoke to the fact that Gordon Davenport had decided to continue with his plans to build a trailer camp on the Mar-Cott Road despite the protests of neighboring property owners whose homes, like Walkers, are clustered along the length of the road.

Mar-Cott Road runs east off Route 209, about two miles north of Stone Ridge in the Town of Marbletown, and meanders for a mile and a half until it touches Lucas Turnpike where it ends.

What the Mar-Cott home owners originally resented was Davenport's apparent failure to comply with a 1965 Marbletown ordinance which requires of anyone intending to build a trailer camp to apply for a permit, submitted "in writing addressed to the Town Board and signed by the applicant."

The ordinance states that the Town Board would then, hand the application to the Marbletown Planning Board which could, in turn, make varied recommendations before passing the paper back to the Town Board for a final vote of approval or rejection regarding the granting of a permit.

It appears that Davenport pursued his venture after having received a verbal go-ahead from a member of the Marbletown Planning Board. After the Mar-Cott families protested, he submitted an application to comply with the ordinance, an action which yet has to be voted upon.

This fear of having a trailer camp adjoining their properties is not the major concern of the Mar-Cott home owners, for if it were, it would probably not have fired the passions it has. The fact is that the camp will house migrant workers who are employed by Davenport to work on his extensive farm and pick his crops every year—and this factor, even though it is the legality of the camp's existence upon which the success or the failure of the Mar-Cott controversy rests, is the burning issue.

The Legal Case

The town ordinance covering the building of trailer camps

CONTROVERSIAL—this trailer camp on the Mar-Cott Road is the scene of an intense controversy involving resident homeowners and Gordon Davenport, a crop-grower and son of one of the oldest families in the area, who plans to house migrant workers in the camp. The battle surrounds the legal existence of the camp.

appears neat, concise, and blatantly demanding. Within the logic of said ordinance, Gordon Davenport, and any other involved member of the Davenport clan, had to put his name and address to an application which was to be, "accompanied by two sets of plans and specifications, drawn to scale, showing the layout of the camp, the location, size and arrangement of each camp unit, location of streets, location and number of toilets, lavatories and showers for each sex, location of water services and location of slop sinks and garbage receptacles."

What makes all of this a bit vague is that one legal opinion stresses the point that if a qualified member of the planning board, told Davenport that it was all right for him to continue work on his camp while the application was making its way towards eventual approval. This may have, in effect, let Davenport off the legal hook—for it appears to be on this point, rather than the fact that the Town Board has yet to vote on the granting of a permit, that the case rests.

Within this context, it is almost a certainty that Davenport will have his camp. Where this places board member McCorkle, or for that matter, the Mar-Cott families, is anyone's guess.

One home-owner has suggested, "We are a little people fighting a big people" and another voiced the ancient adage, "You can't fight city hall."

Little People, Big People

The Davenports came to the Hudson Valley centuries ago. They survived whatever hardships nature and man challenged them with. They acquired the land, nurtured it, and, in time, the land proved fertile.

Generations of Davenports lived, farmed, gave birth and died on those lands, and with the crops coming in year after successful year, the name Davenport became one of the proudest and the most powerful in the county, if not in the state.

There are Davenports in Stone Ridge, Accord, High Falls and Kingston. Besides Davenport Farms, and its acres upon acres of corn and other produce, there is a Davenport Implement Company and a Walter Davenport Sons, Inc. coal, fuel oil and bottled gas company.

There is little doubt that when the name Davenport is mentioned, people respond.

What the Mar-Cott homeowners wonder, however, is whether the combined membership of the Marbletown Town and Planning Boards have responded to Davenport needs regardless of their own letter of the law.

Mrs. Sylvester Smith, a Mar-Cott owner said, "If we were thinking of getting the Town Board on our side, we had just better forget about it."

Mrs. DeWitt Day, another homeowner, suggested, "It is common knowledge that the Davenports own the town."

Heart of Mar-Cott Cause

The heart of the homeowners cause is found in a petition, signed by most families along the road, which states:

"We, the undersigned, do strenuously object to the erection of a temporary or permanent so-called migrant worker camp to be located on Mar-Cott Road, Town of Marbletown. We feel that having such a group within our community will greatly reduce the real estate value of our property and hinder the further development of open land. We know, from past experiences in Ulster and surrounding counties, these groups have caused considerable unrest to local residents. There are five women, in the immediate vicinity, who reside alone and they are deeply concerned. We feel there are other lands available where these people can be housed without upsetting our present environment."

The Mar-Cott owners, the DeWitt Days, Smiths, Walkers, the Edward Scharmers and others, are filled with visions of drunken migrant workers, singing, screaming, roaming the roads and pounding on doors in the middle of those summer nights. They point to the recent murder of a season worker in upstate Rochester, and they recall the Jesse Jackson murder, two years ago, on 209, right near their very own homes.

Mrs. DeWitt Day, who claims that the "whole thing is a flagrant violation of the law", emphasizes the fears of the group by pointing out, "acts of violence connected with migrant workers"; that these workers, "get out of hand". She says, "we want to be protected", and, "people are really scared". Stressing the urgency of the problem, she goes on to say, "people are talking of blocking the roads", adding, later, "to draw attention to the fact that this whole operation is illegal."

Edward Scharmer said that, "if there are any (disruptions) going on (from the workers), we will get the brunt of it."

It is the moral caliber of the workers that the homeowners talk about, the "reputation"—to use Sylvester Smith's term—that they have gathered about them, and it is this reputation, a thing that no Mar-Cotter has had any direct contact with, that creates the fears of declining property values and alarmed concern for their own safety.

As for this apparent Davenport lack of concern for town ordinances, Mrs. DeWitt Day said, "who would blame us —now I don't condone violence —if we took the law into our own hands? Is (the law) all right for one person and not for another?"

The Davenport Side

Although the Davenports refused to be quoted, and therefore their case made known to the public, the reason for the erection of the "camp" is threefold: one, Gordon Davenport wants to split up a larger camp of about 40, so as to avoid any problems that may result from the crowded conditions; two, there was an alleged difficulty in finding water on his lands in all the other places tested; three, most of the other lands are produced and to tear them up would cut down on his yield.

The claim is made that the trailer camp will house only the "regular people", those who stay on for about eight months.

What is stressed is that these workers, some from Jamaica, others from the Bahamas, Mississippi and Florida are, "good people, fine workers" and hardly of a caliber that would stimulate the voiced fears of Mar-Cott residents.

Jobless Up Despite More Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment edged up slightly last month, but the number of Americans with jobs rose 885,000, the Labor Department reported today.

"Employment gains in retail trade, services, and government more than offset a decline in manufacturing employment and the slow pace of construction activity," said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The nation's jobless rate increased one-tenth of one percent to 3.7 per cent, which Commissioner Arthur M. Ross of the bureau described as a scarcely noticeable rise.

The actual number of unemployed dropped 300,000 to 2.7 million, but the jobless rate was up because of the expanded labor force and the larger number of employed. The bureau also adjusts the figures in line with seasonal expectations.

Science Aids For Educators

Teachers and administrators from 47 high schools in Kingston and other communities in this area are expected to attend a demonstration of Bell System science aids for educators Wednesday night at Poughkeepsie High School.

Frank J. Denniston, a New York Telephone engineer, and Mrs. Catherine R. Cavanaugh, a school consultant with the company, will conduct the demonstration.

The Bell System Aid to High School Science program, which won a National Science Teachers Association award for excellence in industrial aids to education, is now in its seventh year. The program is a Bell System contribution to education in fields where Bell scientists are particularly competent. It is designed to narrow the gap between the classroom and the research laboratory.

It has also inspired at least three new mixed drinks.

The Schweppesdriver. Schweppesblossom. And our latest triumph, the Rumbo.

Start off the Schweppesdriver with a jigger of vodka. Start Schweppesblossom with a jigger of gin. Start the Rumbo with a jigger of rum.

Then top up each with Schweppes Bitter Orange, to taste.

Are there any other mixed drinks that use the new flavor of whole fresh oranges, heightened by Schweppesvibrance?

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA)—The school room was very quiet. It was a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association in a small South Vietnamese town. The members were trying to figure out how they could prevent their teachers from being kidnapped and killed by the Viet Cong.

They were already short of teachers. Viet Cong kidnappings and threats had increased. The government's education representative in the area, in desperation, had told the citizens that unless they could protect their teachers they would get no further replacements.

He meant business. With low salaries and with no assurance they would live through the experience, young men were not volunteering for schools in the area.

Said one prominent local man in the PTA group: "But what can we do? We have no arms. The guerrillas will simply kill us." He looked bewildered.

They talked about the matter for a while. Some thought that when they heard the VC were coming they might hide the teachers.

Then someone told the story of a teacher whom the VC had tracked down after losing sight of him for years. Others began relating stories of how the Viet Cong had killed or threatened villages who defied them.

Nothing was decided. The meeting broke up with the PTA members shaking their heads unhappily. They were deeply disturbed by what the VC were doing. But they were afraid and didn't know what to do.

This, then, is the South Vietnamese government's problem. No army can protect the teachers, hamlets, farmers' co-operative or labor union officials, candidates for office or youth association leaders from being kidnaped or killed by Viet Cong terrorists.

Only the people of the hamlets can do it.

Since the Viet Cong, to live, must depend on the villagers for food, information, recruits and labor, except in the border areas, the local population can destroy the VC by passive resistance.

But because there has not been local self-government in Vietnam for these past generations, the people do not yet know what they can do. They're used to following, not taking initiative. Unfortunately, too, in most of South Vietnam's villages, the people do not yet realize they have this power to destroy the VC.

Yet many desperately want to do something.

Talk to the friends of a school teacher who has been killed by VC enforcers. Visit the home of a candidate who has been killed because he dared to run for office. Look at the bewildered face of a fishing co-operative treasurer whose children have been murdered because he wouldn't co-operate with the guerrillas.

Walk through a South Vietnamese hamlet burned to the ground by the VC as an example. Look at the maimed bodies of men, women and children thrown out by the blast when a bus has been bombed by Viet Cong.

These people don't think of the VC as George Washingtons fighting for their country, but they feel helpless against them.

Ulster Hose No. 5, Town of Ulster held its bi-monthly meeting Monday evening at the firehouse.

The members unanimously voted James Tyrell an honorary member and also accepted into membership Robert Burke of 329 North Drive Glencliff.

A report was given by Chief William Fischang, who reported firemen responded to four alarms in the past two weeks. Two of the alarms were for woods fires, one was a false alarm and the fourth was for standby at the scene of the truck-car accident on May 6 on Albany Avenue Extension.

A report was made by Chief Fischang on the revised fire training schedule. Classes will be conducted the first Monday of each month from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. unless otherwise noted. The opening session is scheduled for Monday, May 15 from 7:30 to 10 p. m. when firemen will be instructed in the use of large nozzles and deluge guns. Instructors will be Chief Fischang and Jay Henion. Marty Peterson, chairman of the bowling committee, gave a report on the recent State Volunteer Firemen's bowling tournament which was held on Long Island.

Resnick Fields New G.I. Bill

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick introduced an educational "GI Bill" for Vietnam widows in the House of Representatives this week.

His proposed legislation would, in effect, amend the War Orphans' Educational Assistance Program to extend to widows of men who died from a service-connected disability, the same educational benefits which are provided for orphans.

In a speech delivered on the floor of the House, Resnick said, "We try in every way possible to provide for widows of the men who serve to defend our country in the far corners of the earth—but this is one area that we have overlooked."

The full text of Congressman Resnick's statement follows:

"Mr. Speaker, there are many varying points of view on how we should conduct the Vietnam war. However, there is one point on which I am certain we all agree—that the men who so bravely serve our country and the families of these men, should receive all of the assistance it is humanly possible to give. This is especially true of those families of men who have given their lives in service to America.

"It has come to my attention that under the presently-existing War Orphans' Educational Assistance Program, widows of men who died as a result of service-connected disabilities are not extended the same educational benefits that are available to their children.

"I believe that the members of this Congress and the American public will agree with me when I say that there are few things that are more important today than education. In order to make a decent living in our highly complex world, either a college or other specialized education is virtually a minimum requirement.

"Mr. Speaker, we try in every way possible to provide for widows of the men who serve to defend our country in the far corners of the earth—but this is one area that we have overlooked.

"In order to correct this deficiency in the present law, I am today (Monday) introducing a bill which would amend the present law to include widows of our fighting men. I urge all of my colleagues to join me in support of this much-needed legislation, and to see that it becomes law as quickly as possible."

Geriatric department at Middletown State Hospital

Mental Health Month

Middletown Hospital Services 3 Counties

Middletown State Hospital is a three-thousand-bed hospital for the mentally ill, serving the counties of Ulster Sullivan and Orange.

It is situated within the city limits of Middletown, on 654 acres. The hospital is duly accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals for a three-year period. It has a staff of approximately 40 physicians and 1300 employees.

It offers all the modern treatment modalities, including electric shock, tranquilizing and energizing drugs, individual and group psychotherapy, occupational and recreational therapy, industrial therapy and intensive treatment for new admissions, for selected chronic cases and for newly admitted geriatric cases.

There are several special programs at the hospital, one of them being a treatment center for female drug addicts who are referred to the hospital through the courts from the entire State of New York; a children's unit with a capacity of 90 beds for boys ranging in age from five to 15 years, with a modified educational program; and there is also a special geriatric unit for intensive rehabilitation. At the present time contractors are about to begin construction of a $3,000,000 Rehabilitation Center, which is to be the first one in the State of New York. There is also a Sheltered Workshop in the hospital and a program of industrial therapy for the patients. In Kingston, there is a Halfway House, where selected patients are sent as an intermediate step in their return to the community.

The hospital maintains a three-year nurses' training school, as well as teaching affiliating student nurses from other training schools for three months on a course in psychiatry.

Medical and surgical aspects of hospitalized patients are cared for by the staff under the

Visit for Peace

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI said today that his trip Saturday to Portugal will be solely for religion and peace.

Apparently answering criticism that a papal journey to Portugal would have political effects, Pope Paul announced at his weekly general audience that on the day of the trip he will issue a special document to explain "the religious significance in a better light."

He said he was impelled to make the trip "in a spirit of penitence and prayer for the needs of the Church and of the world, especially for peace."

The Pope will fly to Fatima on a one-day trip to help commemorate the 50th anniversary of the visions of the Virgin Mary three peasant children said they had there.

Erosion in Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Sochi, the Soviet Union's leading beach resort, is losing its beaches, the first secretary of the Sochi Communist party committee wrote in Pravda today.

The party official, S. Medunov, said 12 million rubles a year — $13.3 million at the official exchange rate — is needed to save the beaches at the Black Sea resort. He said the government has been spending only 2.5 million rubles annually to restore beaches and strengthen the coastline.

Medunov said erosion also is threatening the coastal railroad lines on which some 80 passenger trains run each day at the height of the summer.

Bidding Opened On $600,000 Job At HR Hospital

Bids are being accepted for over $600,000 in contracts for the rehabilitation of one of the patient buildings on the grounds of the Hudson River State Hospital, Poughkeepsie. It was announced today by Governor Rockefeller.

The project, which is to be completed by June 1, 1968, calls for improvements in Inwood Building No. 17, a structure that houses 500 middle-aged patients, of whom 400 are men and 100 are women.

Many of the changes in the residence building, Governor Rockefeller explained, have been made necessary by new treatment methods that have made it possible for patients to undertake tasks that would have been beyond their abilities before.

The rehabilitation plans were developed by the architectural firm of Cadman and Droste, of Troy.

Bids will be opened in Albany on May 17 in the offices of the Department of Public Works. The improvement of Building 17 is part of a program of modernization and renovation currently under way at the hospital complex at a total cost of nearly $1.8 million. Of this sum, $714,554 in improvement project has been completed.

"New revolutionary treatment methods adopted by the Department of Mental Hygiene require continual assessment of existing hospital facilities," Governor Rockefeller explained. "Patients able to participate more in the life of an institution because of new therapeutic setting."

In order to take maximum advantage of these new methods of treatment, an extensive modernization — rehabilitation program is under way in mental hospitals across the state under the direction of the Mental Hygiene Facilities Improvement Fund. The fund is a public benefit corporation created by the legislature at the request of Governor Rockefeller to expedite construction of mental hygiene facilities.

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Recently entertainer Nanette Fabray

brav, while at home, was startled by a sharp noise.
"What was that?" she asked her husband, writer Randal McDougall.
"That," he replied, "was my took of matches falling on our three-inch carpet."
The incident dramatized a vast change in the life of Nanette Fabray. She now can hear.

Two months ago she underwent an operation to correct a condition that apparently had afflicted her for life. She had otosclerosis, a hardening of the bones that vibrate to provide hearing.
"My hearing is now beginning to grow more normal," said the actress, "but at first the sound was fantastic. I remember being in a blind rage as I was emerging from the anesthetic. I was hearing some loud noise, which I later discovered to be the sheet rubbing against my bandage."

Noisy Corn Flakes
"One morning I was making breakfast for my husband. I poured some corn flakes into a bowl and the noise was so strong I had to clasp my hand over my ear."

Miss Fabray, who can be seen in an NBC recreation of the old Colgate comedy hour Thursday night, provides an example of how a performer can succeed in spite of a handicap — or perhaps because of it.
"I suppose I was hard of hearing since birth," she comments. "I never realized it in school, but that must have been the reason why I did so poorly. My grades were so bad that I came to the conclusion I wasn't a bright person. I sneaked through Hollywood High and went on to junior college, but I didn't succeed there."

Cause of Shyness
Miss Fabray said as a result of her deafness she became shy and withdrawn. She devoted her time and energies to performing. She never realized the extent of her handicap until one night on tour in "Bloomer Girl."
"I went onstage and was amazed to find I couldn't hear the orchestra," she recalled. "I went to a doctor in that city and he told me there was nothing he could do; I would be stone deaf for five years."

"You can imagine the effect. I was shattered, destroyed. Fortunately I went to another doctor in New York who said I might not go deaf. But he said there was nothing I could do but wear a hearing aid."
For 10 years Miss Fabray performed with a hearing aid. In recent years she has talked freely about her affliction. She

Widow Gets Reward

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Nineteen years after when Ana Tokita was widowed and left virtually penniless she made a vow — to see that her eight children attended college.
Her pledge fulfilled, Mrs. Tokita was presented the Japanese American Citizens League's first Mother of the Year award Tuesday night.

In 1948 Mrs. Tokita and her husband leased a small downtown hotel. When the arrangements were completed they had $7 left. Within seven months he had succumbed to an illness.
"I'll make it on my own," a daughter, Mrs. Henry Hashimoto, recalls her mother saying when she turned down welfare aid because she feared it would reflect upon her children.

The five sons had summer and part-time jobs.
One son earned his master's degree and is an aeronautical engineer, two others attended college for two years and then joined the Air Force.

One daughter has a degree in interior design. Two other daughters attended classes for two years. Two sons are still in school.

The Ku Klux Klan was formed secretly in the South in 1866.

works with several hearing organizations. She feels publicity about deafness will persuade the hard-of-hearing to overcome their fears of stigma and seek help.

Ban Neo-Nazi Rally

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP) — The national congress of the right-wing National Democratic party was barred today from Nuernberg, site of Hitler's gigantic annual Nazi party meetings.
The city administration canceled permission for the party which many consider neo-Nazi.

Okay Minimum Pay for 175 In Training

ALBANY — State Industrial Commissioner M. P. Catherwood announced today that the State Labor Department has received approval from the federal government to pay the state hourly minimum wage to 175 young people enrolled full-time in a department-sponsored training program.

Federal approval was required to raise the hourly rate for the trainees from $1.25 to $1.50 per hour because the program is a Neighborhood Youth Corps project supported mainly by federal funds.

The training project, called WELD (Work Experience in the Labor Department), is designed to help disadvantaged 16-to-21 year-olds learn work skills and prepare them for full-time jobs. The youth are employed in offices of the State Labor Department and its Division of Employment across the state.

Those now being paid at the new rate are out-of-school youths who work 30 hours per week. About 235 WELD youths who work part-time and are still in school will continue to be paid $1.25, although the Department of Labor has sought permission from the federal government to include them in the higher minimum.

Since the inception of the program in October 1965 approximately 600 young people have been referred to permanent jobs, to further training programs, or have returned to school for further education.

Sign of Illness in Anti-Religion

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband, who appears for all the world to be an ideal husband and father, is beginning to worry me. I don't know what's got into him lately, but he has become so antireligious. He was brought up in the Catholic church I became a convert for his sake. Now he has turned against religion like a madman. When I say grace at the table he shouts, "Thank me for the food—not God!" (And right in front of the children, too.) He refuses to go to church, and makes fun of me and the children when we go. I asked our priest to come over and speak to him, but he wouldn't let the priest in the house. What am I to do, Abby? He seems all right otherwise, he's just got this thing about religion. Do you think he'll get over it? WORRIED

DEAR ABBY: This "thing" your husband has about religion is a symptom of mental illness. Talk to your family doctor and together perhaps you two can work out a way to have your husband examined physically and mentally. Don't wait for him to "get over" it. He needs treatment.

DEAR ABBY: A new couple moved to town. They didn't know a soul, so my husband and I took them under our wing and introduced them to all our friends. Now that they are no longer lonely, they have been entertaining all the people we introduced them to, and they haven't been including us. I think this is a lot of nerve. What do you think? USED

DEAR ABBY: Good manners would dictate that they show their appreciation to you in some way. But they are under no obligation to "include" you when they entertain those whom they have met through you. Don't feel "used." Everyone has the privilege of choosing his own friends.

DEAR ABBY: Everyone else airs his gripe in your column, so I want to add mine. It's this blackmail business of "tipping." I'm a salesman, and nobody has ever tipped me for doing a good job. And why should he? I am just doing the job I'm getting paid to do. When I take a woman out to dinner if I don't hand out tips to doormen, waiters, captains, hatcheck girls, and the man who parks my car, I look like a cheap skate.

We could sure take a lesson from our European cousins. There they add 15 per cent to the bill and there is no tipping. SICK OF TIPPING

DEAR SICK: For good or ill (and I dislike tipping, too) many persons serving the public have been forced to rely on tips for a substantial part of their income. Their base pay is low and tips are supposed to provide a living wage. Adding a percentage to the bill is not always practical. So, annoying though the system is, a lot of people are trapped in it—including both the tippers and the tipped.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "In Love and in Trouble": Tell your parent at once. No matter what you think now, they are your best friends and they will do everything they can to help you.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Turnau Opera Singers Reopen New Season

The 14th summer season for Turnau Opera Players is now underway.

Back at the Woodstock home in Byrdcliffe Theatre, Turnau is preparing to present two popular operas, "The Barber of Seville" and "I Pagliacci." On the program also will be two contemporary works, "The Rake's Progress" by Stravinsky and "The Stronger" by Hugo Weisgall. The latter work is based on a play by Strindberg. A departure from the usual operatic course of events will be a week of German lieder.

Piano Program Will Be Given at UCCC

James Adams, of the New York City office of Community Concerts Inc., will give an illustrated talk on piano styles at 1:30 p. m. Thursday, May 11 in Room 34 at Ulster County Community College, 214 West Chestnut Street, Kingston.

The program is open to the public, according to Dr. John Park, coordinator of music at the college.

Mr. Adams' program is entitled, "They Laughed When I Sat Down to Play the Piano." He will discuss piano styles ranging from Bach and Beethoven to jazz and cocktail lounge piano styles. In addition, he will present some humorous sidelights on the current concert scene.

To illustrate the points in his talk, Mr. Adams will play several selections and will be assisted in several two-piano compositions by Dr. Park.

Before joining Community Concerts, Mr. Adams was director of music at the Rocky Mountain School of Music in Colorado. He is a graduate of the Yale University School of Music.

Mr. Adams has presented his piano program at several schools and colleges where it has been very well received by the students, according to Dr. Park.

The UCCC illustrated talk is being sponsored by the Division of Humanities and the Program of Music Instruction at the college.

The Doctor Says

ANNUAL EXAMINATION NOT FOOLPROOF, BUT VALUABLE

Even among doctors there is some controversy regarding the value of periodic health examinations. This is unfortunate because a great many persons die every year as a result of delay in diagnosing a disease before it becomes so advanced no effective treatment can be applied. This is especially true of emphysema and some cancers.

Some people think that having a regular checkup is a sign of weakness, a hypochondriac tendency or a neurotic preoccupation with one's health. This may be true of a few persons but for the most the checkup is taken in stride like a periodic tuning of the family car. The alternative—blissful ignorance—has proved all too costly to thousands of persons in this country every year.

An advantage of the regular checkup is that it gives you and your doctor a chance to get better acquainted in a relaxed atmosphere without feverish concern over an acute illness or intolerable symptoms. Furthermore it gives him a better idea of what you are like when you are well and a basis for comparison if you should come to him later on with some disease. How effective are periodic checkups? It must be admitted that they are not 100 per cent effective. Minor indications of disease may be missed and a coronary heart attack may strike suddenly within a short time after one is given a clean bill of health. All this proves is that we do not yet have enough knowledge of the premonitory signs of a heart attack. Meanwhile let's not let the failures blind us to the value of the successes.

The periodic checkup, to be of value, should include a history-taking interview. This is the most important part of the examination because it helps your doctor to determine what further tests are needed and which can be omitted. It is agreed, however, that in subjects who are over 45 a chest X ray, a rectal examination, a Pap smear in women and an electrocardiogram are essential.

The major obstacles are (1) finding a doctor who is interested enough in disease prevention to take the necessary time to make a meaningful checkup on a person who is not sick and (2) the total cost. The doctor should also be able to explain the findings in terms his patient can understand.

Regardless of the pros and cons, the fact remains that at least half of those who are diagnosed each year as having cancer and other diseases curable in the early stages could be saved by an early diagnosis.

MAY 14TH IS THE DAY to shower mother with love. A hug, a kiss and a gift of fragrance will make the day a smashing success. NATIONAL SALAD QUEEN Karen Schoen prepares a capacious tossed salad. Karen won the title of National Salad Queen following her participation in the 1966 National College Queen Pageant.

MAKE YOUR OWN — To make a salad dressing personally yours, make your own dry mix with sugar, salt, paprika, dry mustard and your own choice of herbs. For the dressing, use the dry mix with oil and vinegar.

Springtime Ushers In Delightful Salad Spree

When springtime comes, salads spring forth. They perk up appetites and turn the prospect of a dull meal into a delightful one.

Karen Schoen, this year's national salad queen and a student at the University of New Mexico, reports that the favorite salad among college students is the proverbial tossed green salad. What goes into the tossed salad is a matter of availability, personal and regional preferences.

Tops among dressings is a basic French dressing. An idea endorsed by Karen is that of making your own basic dry mix for the French Dressing. To the homemade mix, all you add is the vinegar and, if you are nutritionally minded, corn oil. The recipe for the basic mix is given here along with a recipe for another one of America's favorite salads—potato—and a recipe for the Salad Queen's own Guacamole Salad made with avocado.

Whether it is for a tossed salad, potato salad or a specialized salad such as Guacamole, the preparation of the lettuce should be fresh and crisp. The western iceberg lettuce growers suggest that you select firm but not hard heads of lettuce. Strip off any coarse outer leaves. Remove the core and rinse under cold running water then drain thoroughly. Store the lettuce in the crisper in the refrigerator or wrap it in foil, plastic wrap or in tightly-closed plastic bags and store on the refrigerator shelf.

Rosary Group Has Breakfast

Richard Curtin; president Mrs. Stephen Reposky, vice president Mrs. Norman Guenther; secretary, Mrs. Orville Hansen; treasurer, Mrs. Edward Garland and chairman of the breakfast, Miss Vera Lenz. ### Bird Watchers Advised of Event

Each season the Lake Mohonk Mountain House, New Paltz, presents a series of nature programs. The second of this year's series will take the form of a Birding Weekend May 12 to 14. The program is time to catch the waves of warblers as they migrate along the ridge from winter to summer quarters. Lake Mohonk is an ideal spot to witness these flights because of the variety of habitat it offers, with open field, dense forest, deciduous and coniferous trees, numerous streams, and two large bodies of water.

David and Ellen Doubleday, natural history teachers from Connecticut, both of whom have won scholarships and citations for the originality and imagination of their teaching, will be among the leaders. Hal and Mary Flanders, well-known New Jersey naturalists, and Eleanor Trowbridge, of Connecticut, will also lead groups to assist with identification.

Patricia Wilcox Weds Former Kingston Man in Olean's Sacred Heart Church

On May 6, 1967, marriage vows were exchanged in Sacred Heart Church, Olean, N. Y., at 11 a. m. by Patricia Ann Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Wilcox, 22 Haskell Parkway, Olean, and George E. Bowers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Post of 149 O'Neil Street, Kingston, N. Y.

Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Robert J. Manhardt. It was a double ring ceremony. The church was decorated with white and yellow snapdragons for the occasion.

Mr. Wilcox gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a floor length gown of imported lace and peau de soie fashioned with a lace bodice, scalloped neckline and long tapered sleeves. The empire styled gown with an A-line skirt was accented with re-embroidered lace and seed pearls. A detachable train of peau de soie was worn also and a double crown of seed pearls with crystals held a veil of silk illusion. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white sweetheart roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Nancy Kardos, sister of the bride, Newport, R. I., served as matron of honor in an apricot floor length empire styled sheath of chiffon and lace accented with matching satin. A wattleau panel of lace enhanced the gown and she carried a cascade of large white daisies and orange sweetheart roses and ivy. Her horsehair picture hat had a crown of flowers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Jill Mascarella of Cuba, N. Y.; Miss Penny Evans, 27 Alexander Street, Rochester, cousin of the bride; Miss Jane Hanks, 729 Paterson Street, Ogdensburg, N. Y. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the honor attendant and they also carried white daisies with orange sweetheart roses and ivy.

Flower girl was Miss Amie Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gardner of Olean, N. Y. She wore a full length sheath of white lace over lime green in empire style, matching horsehair hat and carried a white basket with daisies and orange sweetheart roses.

Harry Broskie Jr., of Elmdorf Street, Kingston, was best man. Serving as ushers were Robert Overfield, 85 Harding Avenue, this city; Robert Matthews, 314 North Third Street, Olean, and Joseph Schrowang, 27 Coffee Place, Kingston, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Herbert Todd Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Todd, Olean, was the ringbearer. A wedding reception was given at the Ho-Sta-Geh Restaurant, Herman Mountain, Olean for 160 relatives and friends.

The bride is a graduate of Portville Central School and St. Francis Hospital School of Practical Nursing. Her husband is an alumnus of Kingston High School and Dutchess Community College, Poughkeepsie. He is

Doing The Right Thing

BY ELIZABETH L. POST of the Emily Post Institute

With summer approaching, we all begin to think about living outdoors—picnicking, camping, beaching, etc. The quiz below may suggest some ideas which will add variety and fun to eating "al fresco." If you get 100 per cent, you are undoubtedly an enthusiastic picnicker already. If you score below 60, you had better stick to eating in the dining room!

1. Since everyone loves to picnic, you are safe in asking almost anyone you know. True... False...

2. An invitation to a picnic always includes the children. True... False...

3. Sandwiches are always the basic food served at "cold-meal" picnics. True... False...

4. You should always "try out" a picnic spot before inviting guests to it. True... False...

5. The further the picnic spot is from civilization the more successful the picnic will be. True... False...

6. In organizing a picnic, it is perfectly correct to ask each family to bring one dish. True... False...

7. When small children are included at a cook-out, it is wise to have a separate menu from them. True... False...

8. Paper plates and cups are the only practical utensils for picnics. True... False...

9. To put out a fire at the end of a beach picnic, you cover with sand. True... False...

10. Beach umbrellas are essential equipment for all-day picnics. True... False...

Are you all set for summer? Here are the answers.

1. False. Everyone does not love to picnic. Many people dislike sun, ants, wind, etc. and if they accept, they can ruin your day with their complaints and unhappiness.

2. False. Many picnics are for adults only, so specify if you're doing the inviting, and check with your hostess if the invitation you receive doesn't make it clear.

3. False. Cold lobster, hearty salads, cold meat plates with raw vegetable, chilled soups, are all alternatives.

4. True. You never know until you've been there if it's swampy, buggy, rocky, or otherwise uncomfortable.

5. False. Don't get so far away that you can't send a messenger for forgotten matches, ice, or other essentials.

6. True. Unless you want to be the sole hostess.

7. True. Hamburgers or hot-dogs which can be cooked quickly while the adults are having a first course or a cocktail, are great for keeping the youngsters happy.

8. False. They're wonderful at clean-up time but many people prefer the firmer unbreakable plastics or tin plates and cups.

9. False. A barefoot stroller who steps on the hot sand will let you know why you should put out the coals with water before leaving them.

10. True. For shading food, babies, older people or nappers, they are essential.

Mini-Measure; Seek Standards

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A few people at a school board meeting Tuesday night wanted to know who measured up, or down, to a miniskirt.

Connie Collier, 14, a ninth-grader at Woodridge High School has been sent home twice because her skirts were too short. So her parents went to the Boston-Northampton School Board meeting.

"We want to know what the standards are," said Mr. and Mrs. Richard Collier of Boston Heights.

School Superintendent Wilfred J. Gregg answered: "It's a matter of personal opinion. I don't know who would do the measuring."

Principal Paul J. Padrutt added: "We have tried to get the skirt to touch the knee, but it gets harder to buy clothes that long."

"This is the time of year the short skirt always comes up in discussion of school dress policy," he said.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market recovered part of its initial sharp loss early this afternoon.

The market slumped in the first half hour of trading on high volume that put the New York Stock Exchange ticker tape a minute late in reporting floor transactions.

The action was a continuation of Tuesday's steep loss which an analyst called "a long overdue selling squall."

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had lost 6 at 328.0 with industrials off .8, rails up .1 and utilities off .8.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 2.67 at 897.22 after having been down 5.12 at 10:30 a.m.

The margin of losers over gainers narrowed to about 6 to 5.

Schenley Industries and Lorillard announced their proposed merger was subject to a ruling by the International Revenue Service on "a pivotal" tax question.

Schenley rose 3 to 38 1/2 on a delayed opening and then fell back to a gain of 1 1/2. Lorillard advanced 1 1/2 to 57 1/2.

Studebaker gained 2 to 6 1/2 after its merger with Wagner Electric was approved by stockholders of both companies.

Flintkote, Comsat, Sears Roebuck, Du Pont, Owens Illinois and Pfizer declined a point or so.

Control Data and Polaroid advanced more than 2 points. Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

Cut Polish Quota

WARSAW (AP)—A liberal Polish emigration policy under which 70,000 Poles came to the United States in the last decade is over, a U.S. Embassy study says.

The report, made public Tuesday, said Poland's Communist government now needs workers of many kinds. Polish males should do military service at home, not elsewhere, and feels that Polish families should not be split up by emigration.

Polish authorities also object to such questions on American visa applications as "Have you engaged in prostitution?"

And "Are you a member of the Communist party?"

The flow of emigrants started dropping shortly after the recent immigration act went into effect. U.S. Ambassador John Gronowski ordered the embassy investigation to determine if the law was to blame. He said the embassy has a backlog of 10,000 would-be emigrants who can't get passports from their government.

The business meeting of the Hudson Valley Chapter was concerned with the election of officers to serve for the 1967-68 year. Donald Kuehn of Poughkeepsie, nominations chairman presented the candidates.

Binghamton Bus Rate at 30 Cents

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Triple Cities Traction Corp. of Binghamton has received permission for a 30-cent local bus fare, the first in New York State.

The five-cent increase was authorized Tuesday by the State Public Service Commission, which said the firm required the additional revenue to offset operating losses.

In addition, the firm's 15-cent fare for children will be increased by five cents and the price for tokens, now four for 35 cents, to eight for 32.

The higher fares will take effect May 15.

The company operates routes in Binghamton, Johnson City, Endicott and other neighboring communities.

In applying for the increased fares, the company said that it expected to lose $37,600 during the next 12 months because of declining patronage. Wage increases for employees also would raise the expected deficit, the firm said.

Continues Vigil

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of youthful antiwar demonstrators, who kept an overnight vigil inside the Pentagon showed no sign today of giving up.

Sixteen young men and women squatted outside the offices of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to discuss strategy as the vigil continued.

One of the group said 13 demonstrators were fasting. The three who chose to eat were using the Pentagon's cafeteria, he said.

About a dozen spent the night in the corridor, surrounded by government security officers. Normally, only persons holding special passes are allowed inside the Pentagon between 6 p.m. and 7 a.m.

However, authorities chose not to evict the demonstrators Tuesday night. Instead, they cordoned them off and kept watch over them.

Killed in Crash

BOLTON, Vt. (AP)—A 23-year-old resident of Stowe, Vt., or Orleans, France, has been killed in a single car accident on Interstate 89.

State police said Jacques M. Perrin was killed instantly Tuesday night when his car went out of control and rolled over onto the median.

Assistant State Pathologist Dr. Lawrence Shaw said Perrin died of severe head injuries. He had been employed as a chef at the French consulate in Washington and was employed under the Federal Manpower Training Program at the Mt. Mansfield ski area in Stowe.

Strike Curb Talks

PEARL RIVER, N.Y. (AP)—Federal mediators met today with union leaders and representatives of the Lederle Laboratories here in an effort to head off a strike threatened by some 1,700 workers.

Lederle, a division of the American Cyanamid Co., employs a total of 4,500 persons. A two-year contract with the AFL-CIO International Chemical Workers Union, Local 143, expires at midnight. The members have authorized a walkout. They are employed as technicians, guards, and maintenance and production workers.

The union seeks an additional 60 to 80 cents per hour in a one-year contract. Management has offered hourly raises of 23 to 28 cents in a two-year contract. Current hourly wages range from $1.92 to $3.45.

Before their purchase by the United States, the Virgin Islands were known as the Danish West Indies.

Plan Good But Needs Step-Up

Q—"My husband works for an airline, earning $20,000 a year. We will retire ultimately with $16,000 annual pension. Our savings amount to $2,000 and we are buying stocks on a $50 monthly investment plan. We own Avon Products, Castle & Cooke and American Hospital Supply. Will these stocks cover the college expenses of our two daughters, aged 8 and 10?" J. S.

A—I believe you're on the right track, but if you will allow me, I'm going to suggest that you step up your pace a little. All costs are rising, but educational expenses are really spiraling. I advise you to increase your investment plan payments to $100 a month at least. This should not entail too great a sacrifice with your good income and I believe it will more surely enable you to reach your goal.

Your stocks seem generally good for your purpose. Avon and American Hospital have unusually strong records but Castle & Cooke—though an excellent stock—is subject to some variations in earnings because of the agricultural nature of its business. The technical action of the stock has been good, but on any further rise in price I would switch to Holiday Inns which seems to fit your particular needs better.

Q—"I read with interest your articles on municipal bonds. How did these bonds fare during the big depression? Is any tax deducted when a municipal matures in order to make up for the years of holding without paying a federal income tax?" C. G.

A—There were very few defaults on municipals during the early 1930's. The only major one—if I remember correctly—was by the city of Detroit, but this was fully made up in a relatively short time. There is no income tax due at maturity on municipals. The only liability occurs when a bond is bought at a discount. In that event the difference between the price paid and the face value at maturity is subject to a capital gains tax.

Nix $16 Million Suit on Brink's

CHICAGO (AP)—A federal court has dismissed a $16 million libel suit filed by the American District Telegraph Co. against Brink's Co. Inc. that stemmed from a $417,575 burglary in Syracuse, N.Y., in October 1965.

A three-judge panel of the 7th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals dismissed the suit Tuesday because there was "no evidence of actual malice." The Circuit Court's ruling upheld a lower court order in the case.

Attorneys for ADT had argued that the firm had been libeled in a press release, in which ADT was criticized for a faulty alarm at a Brink's Co. branch in Syracuse. The release was made public by Brink's soon after its office on the weekend of Oct. 23-25.

One man since has been sentenced in the burglary in which an anti-tank weapon was used to rip open the vault.

Egypt's Sphinx was built about 2900 B.C.

Whitaker had been the moderator of Candidates Night, held at the George Washington School of the Kingston School District Consolidated and aired over radio station WKNY.

Richard VanDyne was table topics chairman for the evening and he received pros and cons on such topics as Cassius Clay refusing to enter military service, and the Vietnam War.

With Gene Kupka as toastmaster for the evening, Lowell Gagh gave the educational speech, explaining the Toastmaster's Manual and basic training course.

There were four other speakers on the program, including Peter Guattery, a pharmacist at Caldors, Whitaker, Fred Kuhmel and Frederic Synder. Snyder is a professional speaker and a Bridgeway member of the toastmasters. It is considered that his knowledge of public speaking is a great asset to the club.

Whitaker won the trophy for being the best speaker of the evening.

With Daniel Sickles as general evaluator and Milton Reynolds as grammarian for the evening festivities, John Cielo of Kingston was voted into membership.

Two Burglaries

Local police today began probe of two burglaries. School No. 4, Delaware and Lindsay Avenues was entered through a side window. Several items in the building were reported damaged, rooms were ransacked, books scattered, but no money was reported missing. Groceries valued at some $10 were reported taken from the home of Clayton Merwin, 70 Liberty Street. Chest drawers were ransacked. No money was reported taken. Entrance was gained by forcing a rear door lock.

Vote for Reserve Cutback: May Abolish 15 Divisions

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A committee of regular Army, National Guard and Reserve generals has secretly voted 11 to 10 for a controversial plan to drop 15 National Guard divisions and four Reserve brigades, it was learned today.

Narrow as it was, the vote is regarded as a boost for the plan, which is believed to have at least the general blessing of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The proposal—latest step in a year-long Pentagon drive to streamline the Reserve forces—is expected to encounter stiff opposition from powerful members of Congress.

The 21-member Reserve Forces Policy Committee voted last week. The regular Army, the Guard and the Reserves have seven representatives each on the panel.

in the four Army Reserve brigades tabbed for elimination also are expected to wind up in high-priority units. These brigades are manned at between 75 and 90 per cent of maximum strength.

Under the plan as now drawn, even the eight high-strength Guard divisions would be revamped geographically.

The effort is being made to give as many states as possible at least one brigade of about 4,500 men each. Several of the large states would get as many as three brigades.

Guard officials have said about 42 brigades are needed to permit the states to handle internal problems such as civil rights disturbances and natural disasters.

Monticello Raceway Opens Tenth Season Thursday

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Sports Editor)

Monticello Raceway opens its 10th season of harness racing Thursday night with the appropriately titled Anniversary Pace attracting the strongest opening night field in the history of the beautiful Sullivan county track.

With a fair break in weather, the inaugural crowd could hit 7,500.

Post time for the nine-card program is 9:05 p.m.

Weather, always a crucial consideration in the mountains in early spring, will have a definite influence on the size of the crowd.

The early forecast for Thursday is for a clearing trend and warmer.

Phil Tully, the new racing secretary, has lined up eight Junior free-for-alls for the headline event, which carries a purse of $7,500.

The pacers, most of whom have been seen in top spots at Roosevelt and Yonkers Raceways, include Skipper Gene, who upset Romulus Hanover last week in Westbury, L.I. with a 2:02 victory.

Others in the star-studded field are: Danny Row Gil, Pocomoonshine, Tactile, Chris Time, Sharon Irishman, Skipper Gene and Niagara Byrd. The race is at a mile.

Barns Are Jammed

All 750 barns at Monticello are jammed with trotters and pacers, the plant has been completely refurbished, access roads have been widened to alleviate traffic problems. Everything is in readiness for a smashing opener.

Last year Monticello concluded its season with an increase of 2 per cent in attendance and a deficit of only 1.7 per cent in wagering, compared with 1965, which had 13 more racing dates. This in spite of extraordinarily cold and wet weather.

Drop Twin Double

In line with the edict of the New York State Harness Racing Commission, there will be no twin double, but the fans will not lack for action. In addition to the nine races, there will be the usual daily double and four perfectas.

The perfecta events in which the bettors will strive to select in advance the precise 1-2 finishes, will be the third, fifth, seventh and ninth races. Last year there was only one perfecta—in the ninth race.

High optimism reigns among the Raceway officials who are confident that last year's figures for attendance and mutual handle will be surpassed, even though the 1967 operation will be one week shorter.

Track president Franklin P. Devlin, chairman of the board Sidney Sussman and vice president and executive director Leon Greenberg all predict a most successful season which will cover 111 nights and four matinees.

Greenberg expressed confidence that the elimination of the twin double would be nullified by interest in the perfectas.

"We have confidence in the wisdom of the commission's decision," said Greenberg, "and we are hopeful that the loss of the excitement provided by the twin double will be overcome by the excitement of four perfectas."

Antipodes Hot Shot

Although Skipper Gene will probably go to the post the favorite, considerable attention will be centered on the New Zealand entry—Tactile—who has competed in the United States for over a year with marked distinction and Good Time Gene, a consistent New England campaigner.

Tactile is trained and driven by national driving star Johnny Chapman, while Good Time Gene is handled by the recently crowned Rockingham champ, Leroy Copeland.

Tactile is under lease to Pine Brook Stables of Mt. Vernon. The 8-year-old son of Hal Tryax-Tactile has proved a very lucrative investment. He compiled earnings of $67,386 last year and has thus far this season won around $15,000.

Ran 2:00 Mile

In the win department, the fast finishing bay recorded seven last year and is one for six in the current campaign. Two of his 1966 victories were in even time or better, one being in 2:00 flat at Laurel and the other in 1:59 3/5 at Vernon Downs. His lone triumph this year was in a $15,000 junior free-for-all test at Roosevelt. Good Time Gene is a member of the highly productive Abraham Schultz Stable of Bal Harbour, Fla. A 5-year-old gelded son of Gene Abbe-Good Time Princess, Gene has batted .333 for the year in wins.

Copeland, one of the best young reinsmen in the sport, has sent the bay postward exactly nine times this year and fashioned three triumphs. His best was a 2:03 1/5 score at Rockingham against rough Atlantic Seaboard Series competition and his seasonal bank roll amounts to nearly $10,000.

Last year Gene recorded 13 wins for the 27-year-old A durable horse, he went to the post 38 times and had 7 seconds and 3 thirds. His 1966 earnings amounted to $18,409 and his best time was 2:02 2/5. So, they're off at Monticello!

KHS Nips Stubborn Ontario Golf Squad

Ontario Central's underdog golfers gave Kingston High's powerhouse surprising opposition before bowing, 4 1/2-3 1/2, Tuesday at Woodstock Country Club links.

Robert Costello, Kingston's No. 2 man, fired low nine of the day (37) in a 2-0 win over Joe Forno (43) of Ontario.

Scores ran generally high due to cold weather and a "long" course.

The summaries:

1) Ross Van Wagenen (38), OCS, over Jordan Pauker (43), K, 2-0.

2) Robert Costello (37), K, over Joe Forno (43), 2-0.

Keefe slammed his home run in the second inning off Gary Roome, who allowed seven hits. He added a third RBI in the fifth inning.

Red Hook picked up two runs in the fourth on singles by Hart and Sugart and two successive wild pitches by Cunningham, who was credited with the victory.

NFA Cindermen Top KHS, 87-49

Gary Boice and Bill Brinnier suffered their initial defeats of the season and the visiting Kingston High track team was overwhelmed, 87-49, Tuesday by the powerful Goldbacks of Newburgh Free Academy.

Boice turned in a brilliant 4:35.1 effort in the mile and lost to John Collins of the hosts in a photo finish. Both boys crossed the finish line at the same time and the nod went to the NFA runner.

Brinnier, the scintillating sophomore for coach Bill Hurley's team, was clocked in 10:25 for the two mile. But, Dick Arnold of Newburgh was the winner in a nifty 10:07.

Winners for the KHS squad were Don Brott (440), Al Drake (880) and Gary Charlton (pole vault). The 880-yard relay team was also a winner.

The locals will be at Saugerties next Tuesday for a dual meet.

Carew Paces Twins Over Senators, 11-1

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The advice Rod Carew gives doesn't go in one ear and out the other. Both ears are too busy listening—one ear to one language and the other ear to another.

Sometimes, however, Carew's bat does the talking, such as Tuesday night when he rapped three hits, giving him eight in two nights, as Minnesota crushed Washington 11-1.

Carew is an American who was born in Panama and learned Spanish fluently before moving to Brooklyn. As a result of his bilingual ability, the 21-year-old second baseman gets advice in Spanish from his Latin teammates and advice in English from his U.S. teammates.

In other AL games, Detroit edged Cleveland 4-3, Chicago nipped Baltimore 5-4, Kansas City topped Boston 4-3 before bowing 5-2 and New York squeaked by California 2-1.

Carew stretched his streak to seven straight hits before he was given credit for a fielder's choice on a run-scoring squeeze bunt. He also drove in a run with a double while Zoilo Versailles knocked in three with two singles and Killbreder delivered two with a double and a single.

Home runs by Al Kaline, with one on, and Bill Freehan, with none on, powered Detroit past Cleveland. Catcher Duke Sims, who let in a Tiger run with a passed ball, homered for the Indians.

5th Straight
Chicago extended its winning streak to five games and Baltimore's losing string to five. Pitcher Gary Peters tripled in the seventh inning and scored the decisive run on Don Buford's single. Tommie Agee and Ron Hansen homered for Chicago while Boog Powell connected for the Orioles.

The New York Yankees got just three hits against California, but two of them helped score runs. John Kennedy doubled in the third and scored on Jim Fregosi's error, and Elston Howard singled in the fourth and later scored as Kennedy fled out.

Set Show Date For DUSO Club

Martin will be honorary chairman of the DUSO Horse Club Show Saturday, June 3, at the Ponderosa Ranch, Salt Point. Serving on the committee will be Mrs. Everett Crosby of Salisbury, Conn., chairman; Mildred Underdonk of Beacon, co-chairman, and Mrs. Ernestine Orlik, secretary.

Any person wishing to enter the horse show can get in touch with James Exum, Poughkeepsie; Mrs. Myrtle Coy, Clinton; or Louis La Falce, Highland. Also serving on the committee are Mrs. James Exum and Edith Christiana. Lynda Avries, Tina Livingston, and Kathy DiCicco are Kingston representatives.

The DUSO Horse Club is composed of members from Dutchess, Ulster, Sullivan and Orange Counties. The show is being held for the benefit of Mount Carmel Church, Western and English classes, which will be announced later, will be represented.

2 OCS Hurlers Combine to Beat Greg Cappillino

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Greg Cappillino of Highland hurled an 11-inning eight-hitter, walked only three and recorded 20 strikeouts Tuesday at Onteora.

But, here's the rub. The scrappy Indians peeked away at the big lefty and finally pushed the winning run across the dish in the 11th inning to record a 3-2 win and throw the UCAL race wide open.

Standings:
Team W L
Highland 4 1
Pine Bush 4 1
Onteora 4 2
New Paltz 3 3
Marlboro 2 3
Rondout Valley 1 4
Wallkill 1 5

Cappillino, the all-everything at Highland, matched serves for nine innings with Charlie Moore, the OCS ace. Coach Paul Jordan inserted Tom Guadagnola to relieve the tiring Moore in the final two frames and Guadagnola was the winner.

Bush Scores
In that big 11th, Mickey Bush singled to right and advanced to second as the ball was misplayed. After Cappillino hitched up his trousers to fan the next two batters, John Waters reached first on an error. Lou Ganci then hit to deep short and when the throw to second for a force play was wild, Bush scored the winning run. Waters was out as he too tried to score but the damage had been done.

Given the edge, Guadagnola bore down, getting the visitors in their last at bats.

Onteora scored a run in the third off Cappillino as Stan Witko walked and Bush and George Colon beat out bunts to clog the sacks. A bases loaded walk to Waters forced in the marker.

Art Kelder's double, a walk to Witko and Colon's single gave the Indians a 2-0 lead in the fourth.

Moore was the victim of shoddy support in the fourth and sixth and both times Highland scored. The final marker sent the game into overtime and set the stage for the dramatic win.

Very much in contention for the league title, the Indians swing back into action on Friday when they play at Rondout Valley.

Ellenville Nips OCS Track Team

For the second time in less than a week, Onteora Central's track team led a dual meet going into the 880-yard relay.

And, like their initial time, the Indians lost the delay as Ellenville stopped the visitors, 62-60, Tuesday.

Coach Bernie Stahl took only 16 of his team members to Ellenville. He plans to use the others today against Hunter-Tannersville. The lack of depth cost the Indians against the home squad.

Dale Chauncey (shot and discus) of the Indians and Frank Skeans (100 and 220) of the winners scored double wins.

Roberts Hurls 7-0 Shutout Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Robin Roberts, who won 286 games during a standout career in the Major Leagues, lead the Reading Phillies to a 7-0 shutout over York Tuesday night in the Eastern League for his first minor league victory in two decades.

And like several of his big league triumphs, this one had the old master's indelible mark on it—a five-hit, seven strike-out effort.

The 40-year-old righthander, who reached stardom with the Philadelphia Phillies and spent the waning days of his big league career on many other rosters, thus evened his Eastern League mark this year at 1-1.

He lost his initial start to Williamsport, 1-0, in which he allowed eight hits.

Banks Payment Demand May Hike Lottery Cost

By GERRY MC LAUGHLIN
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Pressure from banks may force the price of state lottery tickets up to $1.05 or more, state tax officials say.
A Tax Department spokesman held open that possibility in an interview with The Associated Press Tuesday after the department had heard banking officials propose a 10-cent handling charge for each lottery ticket sold by banks.
State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy called another hearing in Albany today to seek the views of owners of motels and hotels, authorized by the state to sell tickets for the $180 million lottery.
At Tuesday's hearing, spokesmen for several bank associations asserted that banks would need compensation of at least 10 cents per ticket to cover the added cost of handling the tickets.
The department was told that many banks were delaying moves to apply for lottery licenses until they determined what handling charge would be set.

Supervisors Will Mull Bill For Witness

It cost Ulster County $370.74 to house Mrs. Elizabeth Rosicello at the local Howard Johnson motel while she was being detained as a material witness for the Raymond G. Rickard Jr., first degree murder charge.
Rickard was indicted by a grand jury for the alleged murder of Mrs. Rosicello's 2½ year old son, Victor, who disappeared while Rickard and Mrs. Rosicello occupied a trailer in Lake Katrine in 1964. The body was never recovered and Rickard was acquitted after trial. It was alleged the body was thrown in the Hudson from the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge.

Mrs. Rosicello was indicted on a perjury charge growing out of her appearance before a grand jury during the investigation. She later pleaded guilty and was given a year in jail with time spent in jail credited. Just prior to the trial after Rickard had been returned from India, Mrs. Rosicello was removed from the county jail, where she was being held as a material witness, and housed for 14 days at the local motel. The motel now seeks payment and the question is from what fund should payment be made. The Board of Supervisors will be asked to solve that problem Thursday night.

Another matter to come before the board is payment of a $4,000 bill which Sheriff William B. Martin has incurred for making repairs to the county jail. These repairs were demanded by the State Department of Correction. He has asked for a transfer of that sum from the county contingent fund to the sheriff's fund so that the bills may be paid. Also coming before the board Thursday night will be acceptance of the Coxing Kill Bridge in the Town of Rosendale erected by William Van Kleeck Sons, Inc. of New Paltz, at a cost of $128,537.30.

Cows in Peace Corps

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Margaret Hansen and her Holsteins hit Nigeria Tuesday after two weeks at sea.
Miss Hansen, 43, quit dairy farming in Middletown, N.Y., to make her second tour in Africa with the Peace Corps.
"I am nothing like the Peace Corps image," she said aboard the freighter African Lightning which carried her 109 helpers from Vermont, New York and Connecticut. They left New York City April 24.
She will accompany the cattle to Ikene in western Nigeria, about 50 miles north of Lagos and plans to spend at least two years helping to breed her charges, all yearlings.

UCCC Gets Federal Grant for Courses

Ulster County Community College has received a $29,530 federal grant to provide additional equipment for support of the mechanical technology program, Dr. George B. Erbstein, the college president, said today.

The grant, under the Vocational Education Act of 1963, was approved by the Division of Occupational Education Supervision.

"This grant will enable us to expand our mechanical technology program next fall," said Dr. Erbstein, "and help us to make the program more meaningful for our students."

The federal funds will enable the college to buy additional equipment related to drafting and design, manufacturing processes and materials testing to strengthen considerably the mechanical technology program, according to Dr. Erbstein. The equipment will be housed in a mechanical technology laboratory which will be located in the business building at the college's Stone Ridge campus which will be used starting in September.

The equipment the college plans to buy with the federal funds includes drafting tables, drafting machines, small jig borer, variety of machine tools, a specially equipped lathe for machine ability tests, a tensile testing machine and a metallograph.

Started in 1964
The first students were accepted in the UCCC mechanical technology program in September, 1964.

This program is designed for high school graduates desiring preparation for immediate entry into the world of work after completing the community college technical program. In addition, the program also is appropriate for adults, with a preparation equivalent to high school, who either do not have a skill or are desirous of retraining as preparation for entry into a new vocation.

Emphasizes Productivity
Besides the basic technical concentration, the program places an emphasis on general education with careful attention to the role played in today's society by each individual as a productive, contributing, moral being.

Students successful completing the program are prepared to accept responsible semi-professional technical positions and are helping to meet the greatly expanding need for well qualified personnel in today's business, industrial and technical world.
